LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Hungjao Incidents:

A Foreigner Criticized

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—One living in the Hungjao area would naturally think that they were quite safe from trouble, seeing that the Japanese military have assumed charge and prevented the S.M.C. Police from exercising the duties they performed so efficiently prior to the occupation of that area by the Japanese, but instead of protection it appears to the writer that the Japanese military have set in motion in the Hungjao area a band of men who stop, search and remove (otherwise steal) from the person searched anything they find serviceable to themselves.

This is evidenced by an incident which occurred on Hungjao Road, about 30 yards west of Chun San Road, on Sunday morning at 7.45 a.m. when my house boy was stopped by five Japanese in military uniform (without arms) when he was returning from market with purchases for our household use.

Those five men (or highway robbers) relieved my boy of fifteen fresh eggs, and would have taken all the eggs he carried had he not Chin-chinned them to leave some for his master, which they kindly consented to do so as I could have breakfast.

On another occasion the milk delivery coolie was stopped, a quart bottle of milk taken away and the coolie beaten up for remonstrating.

Again a neighbour's boy was searched a few days ago and $3 taken from him in cash.

I write this with the hope that the Japanese who are responsible for the acts of their men may bring this before their military police with a view to stop these petty thefts which are degrading to any nation's military. I would also state that the officers in charge at Lincoln Avenue have always given the best of attention to all residents in the Hungjao area, doing all they could to make them as comfortable as possible and I am confident they will still continue this good work, on which they should be complimented. At the Hungjao Military Crossing I am sure no complaints will be made from either side if foreigners abide by the regulations and those soldiers who are apparently off duty are curbed in their behaviour.

Since completing the foregoing remarks, curfew passes for Hungjao area have been stopped by the Military, and on investigation I find this has been done through a foreigner making trouble over the time limit alloted to him, and thus got all residents in the area penalized through his behaviour.

This particular foreigner's behaviour is not called for with the Japanese officers in the Hungjao area, for, as stated above, they have always been courteous and willing to do their best for residents in Hungjao, and they would be quite justified permanently to stop a curfew pass to this particular person, by doing so the Japanese would be further assisting peaceable foreign residents in Hungjao and I am confident would have the thanks and support from those residents.

The foreigner who made himself objectionable to the Japanese officers would be well advised to apologize for his behaviour to the officers-in-charge, both for his own benefit as well as for those at present penalized, and I am sure his apology will be well received.

PENALIZED.

Tram Conditions:

A Passenger's Complaint

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—Being a daily tramcar passenger in the Settlement, I wish to ask the Tramway Co. the reason for having 1st and 3rd class compartments in their cars? The doors between the two compartments are constantly open, coolies with and without dirty bags, parcels and suitcases are constantly entering or leaving by way of the 1st class compartment, the one and only conductor chasing from one compartment to the other to collect fares.

I wish to bring to the attention of the Tramway Co. the way the French Tramway Co. is handling things. In the French cars the door between the two compartments is constantly closed and locked and no passengers are permitted to pass through that door. There is one conductor for each class. The result is that you are travelling in comfort, without the risk of getting your clothes dirty by passing coolies carrying dirty bags, baskets, etc., etc.

Today at 11.30 a.m. I was travelling in a No. 2 car (No. B75), the conductor was selling fares with a cigarette in his mouth; when he was through selling, he and the fellow who is supposed to open and lock the gate settled comfortably down in the first-class, and both smoking. What I want to know is, are they permitted to act so while on duty?

I also wish to bring to attention the dirty state of the so-called uniforms of the conductors.

In tramcar No. 2. (B 87) today at 2 p.m. I noticed the awful state of the conductor's uniform; it was filthy, dirty and torn, disgusting to look at.

How about it, Shanghai Tramway Co.? Are you able and willing to make some improvements and give a little more comfort to your passengers? Or maybe the shareholders will object to you spending a little of their money?

DAILY TRAM PASSENGER.

Shanghai, June 14.

Bridge Manners:

The Post-mortem Critic

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—Now that the long summer evenings are here one has lots of opportunity to play a game of Bridge. It ought to be a restful and pleasant way of spending one's time, but very often, is just the reverse. I am considered, on the average, a good player, and am extremely fond of Bridge. No one, however, is infallible, not even the smartest exponents of the game. I make a mistake occasionally the same as anyone else does.

What I wish to write about today is the regrettable lack of good manners at the Bridge table. Why is it that so many people think they have a right to voice their opinions about a fellow player, quite regardless of the fact that the player did not ask for them? Is it because of the stake, do you think? Partner-losing-critic's-money sort of feeling? I know many people who constantly criticize, and they have a smug way of shielding themselves, by saying—"It's only friendly criticism." These people are quite wrong. They ruin the game for others. Criticism of one's partners play, unless it is asked for, is in extremely bad taste. If a fault has been committed, the one who is guilty of it is quite aware of the fact, and having it thrown in his face does not make matters any better. He is conscious also of having lost the other man's money for him, this adds to his discomfort. He apologises. "Friendly criticism" is now introduced. The unmistakable note of irritability in the voice of the self-appointed judge does nothing to ease the discomfiture of the miscreant. I have noticed that many of the players, who adopt this dictatorial attitude, are those who really, if they had any sense, would realize, that they would do better to keep quiet. Exasperation is more apparent in their voices, than the kindness they claim they feel. Does it not occur to these people, that every player has a right to his own views on the game, and a right to be allowed to enjoy it? One may, by making a mistake, loose the partner some money, but one loses one's own at the same time. Partners too often forget that point, their end is the only one of any importance.

I think that Mr. Culbertson, and the other leaders of the game of Bridge, might do well to inaugurate a system of courtesy (compulsory) to be observed by players. A pamphlet should be issued, entitled "Etiquette at the Bridge Table" (Does and Don'ts for those wishing to make a Bridge four). It is sadly needed. If people do not know instinctively, that it is bad form to make others uncomfortable, the little book would not only teach them manners, but would prevent their playing and spoiling a delightful game for lack of them.

MANNERS-MAKETH-THE-GAME ALSO.

Shanghai, June 15.

Non-Intervention:

What Talleyrand Called It

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—Bearing on today's editorial (regarding Czechoslovakia) and some of your recent pronouncements, the following extract from Chapter 6 of Genevieve Tabouis' book bearing the title "Blackmail or War" may be of interest.

Likewise, in view of the forthcoming meeting of the Spanish Non-Intervention (!) Committee further point is added to her analysis.

It should be pointed out that the authoress is Diplomatic Editor of "L'Œuvre." Paris, and her book was completed January last.

Sufficient emphasis cannot be placed on the last sentence of this extract:

On the 15th of August, 1936 Great Britain and France reached a final agreement to associate themselves with the cause of non-intervention. They decided to close their frontiers to all consignments of arms and munitions. As a result of their determined attitude, Germany and Italy agreed to identify themselves in principle with this policy of non-intervention. While this arrangement averted the immediate possibility of a general catastrophe, the drawback to it was that it looked like a victory for the Berlin-Rome axis resulting from the German and Italian policy of blackmail based upon a threat of general war. The League experts were quick to see the disastrous effect which this would have on international affairs. It meant that from then onwards the slightest threat of war would cause the nations concerned selfishly with their own security, to appeal to the doctrine of non-intervention as a means for evading or delaying the fulfilment of the obligations contained in the Covenant of the League. Henceforward, through fear of being regarded as a war-monger, everyone, though bound by commercial treaties, will refrain from furnishing arms to a country unjustly attacked. Once more force revealed itself as the supreme factor in the world. It is interesting to note that as early as the Congress at Vienna Talleyrand referred to non-intervention as "a diplomatic term of unknown meaning."

The effects of this new state of affairs soon made themselves felt. The war in Spain continued and still continues, the war in China broke out with unprecedented violence, and Japan, disguising her aggression as a mere domestic operation on the part of her police force, has informed Great Britain, France and U.S.A. that reprisals will be carried out against the goods and interests of these countries in the Far East if they render any assistance whatever to the Chinese Republic.

When the Nazis try, by means of an internal putsch, to annex Austria once and for all, that ill-fated country will find itself unable to purchase the arms to protect its independence.

Czechoslovakia would be in a similar plight. Such acts of aggression would be explained away as "measures coming within the scope of internal policy." This attitude may well recoil one day against Great Britain and France who, after all, during the Great War owed their salvation to supplies of American armaments.

Lawn Bowls:

Reader Accused of Meanness

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—This SANDWICH man correspondent of your widely read paper seems to my mind to be a very poor specimen of humanity. For goodness sake what is it that troubles this poor fish who has to write anonymously? I am not a lawn bowler and have never played the game, going in for only one line of sport, but I do admire all sportsmen, and lawn bowlers can certainly be classified as such. Regarding the accident to the player who cut himself opening a beer bottle, I can recall 12 years ago a cricket player doing exactly the same thing, showing that all sportsmen can have their drinks at their respective games just as well as a lawn bowler. Why, I have a jockey son who invariably takes a wee drop before going out for a race or on returning as he feels inclined.

I notice in your this morning's issue another letter signed SANDWICH where he now attacks a man who is a dog lover and is simply trying to do something to give the poor dogs a little more in life than what they are getting under the present prevailing conditions, why should you, SANDWICH worry about such small matters? Supposing the Bus Company can find a way of placing one of their spare buses on a run for the benefit of dog lovers, why in the name of hades should you try to prevent this being done? In conclusion SANDWICH you are a darned mean sort.

Street Flooding:

P.W.D. Coolies' Quaint Ways

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—In view of the flooding of many parts of the town during the last few days, it seems to me that the P.W.D. coolies do not help matters by sweeping street refuse down the drains. I actually saw them doing so in Hankow Road this morning, apparently working on the principle that the more refuse that they can get rid of, the less they have to pick up.

Prepossessing:

Those Proof-readers Again

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—JACK AND JILL'S latest excellent effort has decided me to retire in shame from the verse-making pastime, added to which my last effort was so mauled in reproduction that I am reluctant to venture further into rhyme. The seventh line should have read:

"I am well in with the titled, and the taipans, and their satellites," but for some reason best known to the proof-reader who handled the copy, "and the taipans" was omitted; consequently scansion suffered.

The Gentleman:

Who Should Have Paid

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—With reference to the letter in your today's issue regarding a rickshaw coolie and a "gentleman," it seems to me that if DISGUSTED BRITON really felt sorry for the coolie, he should have either stopped the "gentleman" and made him pay or else he could have paid the coolie himself.

Writing to the press about the incident does not help the rickshaw coolie in any way. As for the "gentleman," such people generally do not read the papers; and besides "gentlemen are born—not made."

Tattered Flags:

Supervision Suggested

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—Why not an unofficial local organization to bring attention to mutilated national emblems flown on various flag poles such as:

The one on a British-owned apartment house in the French Concession.

The one on the radio broadcasting station at 445 Race Course Road (I am not certain that this is a remnant of a flag or not).

My idea of the organization:

1. Bring attention to such emblems as may be mutilated.
2. The owners so brought up to pay a nominal "fine" to a refugee fund, also keep a respectable emblem.

MORE AND BETTER FLAGS.

Foreign Concessions

A Reader's Wish

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—In reply to AUSTRIAN I do not think that a "certain country" would bother about concessions as they now control quite a bit of territory, including the well-developed Hongkew and the Civic Centre. What I would like to see is the British Concession at Hankow restored and an Austrian one added, to compensate for their old and cosy one at Tientsin, surrendered after the war.

I am unable to discuss London, Scarborough and the British Isles until I can wangle a trip there one day.

Shanghai, June 14.

Sixty Years Ago

FROM THE "NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS," OF JUNE 16, 1878

On few subjects connected with the trade of Shanghai has there been so much said as on that of the Bar at Woosung, and on few have the issues in question been so far neglected amidst the strife of words. On the part of some of the representatives of steamship owners, it has been the great bugbear of our trade in Shanghai; while on behalf of some sections at least of the Chinese officials it has been the "heaven-sent barrier," expressly designed by a wise Providence, to maintain immaculate the Celestial Empire, from inroads of encroaching foreigners. The Bar has been attacked and defended on sentimental rather than practical grounds, and the result is that it still exists as an impediment to navigation, while year by year the stream of the Hwangpoo is being curtailed by shoals, and the difficulty of access to the wharves increased. It seems time that, amid all this clatter of words, some steps should be taken to point out in clear and definite lines the actual amount of deterioration, and the directions in which it has made itself most felt. Up to this point both sides have rather avoided this very useful, indeed necessary spurt to their arguments. On the one side we have been used to general denunciations, and on the other the questionable nature of some of the points raised has been made the excuse for a refusal to investigate the causes at work and their effects. We have often pointed out the remarkable fact that no proper survey of the approaches to Shanghai is in existence, and that there is absolutely no machinery for gaining a knowledge of changes continually taking place in the mouth of the Yangtze.

France May Arm Her Merchant Marine

Senate Naval Expert on War Time Precautions

Paris, June 14.

A long report outlining the respective roles of the French Navy and Mercantile Marine in war time has been prepared by Senator M. Bergeon, Vice-President of the Senate Naval Committee.

In this report, M. Bergeon insists upon the necessity of adequately arming merchant vessels and he stresses the need for an autonomous naval high command.

This report will be studied shortly within the framework of the general plan of the nation's organization in war time.—Havas.

Gary Cooper Detective

There have been films tracing the history of the House of Rothschild and Lloyds, and now Sam Goldwyn is proposing to perform the same service for Scotland Yard. It is a pity that no British producer thought of the idea. But then Englishmen never realize the existence of their national institutions until some enquiring foreigner shows an interest in them. On his recent visit to London Mr. Goldwyn prepared the ground by having several interviews with the police department, and getting some first-hand information.

The stars of "The Yard," which is the provisional title, will be Gary Cooper and Merle Oberon. Cooper plays the part of the original founder of The Yard, and no doubt some plausible excuse will be found for Miss Oberon's presence in the picture. The Cooper-Oberon combination is something new. These two popular players are now making "Graustark," and apparently their team work is proving eminently satisfactory.

Floor Show Change

A complete change of floor show programme will be presented tomorrow night at the Casanova Ballroom, with the Dixie Sisters, versatile singers and dancers, topping the entertainment bill. The management states that Apollo's Gauchos, the new dance band, is finding favour with patrons and proving a strong attraction. The modern air-conditioning system of the ballroom is functioning in full.

"Potash and Perlmutter"

Rosen and Valin will be at the Lyceum on Saturday and Sunday in the name roles of this popular comedy.

Service Dance Contest

The second elimination in the All-Service Dance Contest for the championship of Shanghai will be held at the Majestic Ballroom on Saturday night. On the occasion of the first elimination last week more than 30 couples, representing seven nationalities, competed. Of this number an even dozen couples were successful and are eligible for the semi-finals, to be held one week from next Saturday. First prize in the finals will be $50 and a silver cup. There will be many other prizes. The contest is open to service men of all nationalities. The Majestic is air-conditioned and all of the 150 hostesses are available as partners for the contest. The first elimination resulted in keen rivalry between British and American service men, with Italian service men running a close third.

Pavillion Programme

Offering wee golf, afternoon concerts, dinner dances, Bingo and various outdoor games, Jimmy's Pavillion, opposite Jessfield Park, despite inclement weather, has been catering to constantly increasing crowds. Much favourable comment is heard with reference to the dance band, directed by Nina Kellan, and the band's singing trio. Barbecued steak dinners, mixed grill, chop suey, chow mein, Coney Island Red Hots, country gravy sandwiches and other dishes for which Jimmy is well-known are served.

Carole Lombard to do Heavy Drama Roles

"Zaza" Chosen for Her; Nova Pilbeam's Problem

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT

London, May 20.

Carole Lombard, the high priestess of crazy comedy, is going in for heavy drama. It is quite time these scatterbrained family sages stopped anyway, for they have done the stars who acted in them more harm than good. Myrna Loy and William Powell made their reputations in "The Thin Man", but when they had to descend to the inanities of "Double Wedding" even their unfailing charm and accomplishment showed signs of strain.

Then there was that farrago of noise and nonsense entitled "Merrily We Live" which made the mistake of confusing crude taste and bad manners with comedy. Constance Bennett and Billie Burke were the victims here. Crazy-family comedies are still being turned out—"Danger, Love at Work" is the latest example—but the high-salaried stars are no long being asked to play in them.

A New "Zaza"

A very old melodrama has been chosen as Carole Lombard's next vehicle. It is called "Zaza." Some of you may remember the old silent version in which Gloria Swanson appeared wearing more jewellery than it would seem possible for any one woman to attach to her person. There was an even earlier version in 1915, and the play from which the story is taken was written by the celebrated dramatist Sardou in the late nineteenth century.

The heroine is one of those French gamins who rise from the gutter to the stage, and thence to love and renunciation in palatial and aristocratic surroundings. There are echoes of "The Lady of the Camellias" in the plot, but the characterization is a great deal more flamboyant. It is a little difficult to imagine our long-limbed, vague-eyed, casual Carole in a part which demands Gallic fire and emotion. Still, "Zaza" will give her a chance to prove her quality as an actress.

The Awkward Age

These young stars who are neither children nor women are the cause of constant headaches in the production departments. Nova Pilbeam delicately skirted the love-interest problem in her last picture "Young and Innocent." One was given to understand that the hero's interest in her was not entirely platonic.

At the same time all visual suggestion of this fact was carefully avoided. Nova remained an innocent schoolgirl who might or might not, after the end of the last reel, allow her thoughts lightly to turn to more serious matters than evading the police and tracking down a murderer.

The same problem of adolescence is worrying the production heads of Universal in Hollywood. Is Deanna Durbin mature enough to be allowed a love-interest? A story entitled "That Certain Age" had been prepared for her, but somehow the producers weren't quite sure. They have now decided that Deanna had better remain in the infant school after all, at any rate for one more term.

So her next picture, if plans proceed according to schedule, is to be "Cinderella." Not a simple little fairy-tale but a mammoth production, in colour, of course, which will cost something like a million dollars. The musical score has already been written, and there will be scope for plenty of broad comedy as well as spectacle.

Maskee Night Club

With the addition last night of Jean Kirkor to the entertainment staff of the Maskee Night Club, who will assist George Sellers with musical selections for dancing and dining, the establishment's boast of featured items is well authenticated.

"Over the Wall"

June Travis comes soon to the Grand in this prison drama.

Their repertoire is extensive and they will be glad at any time to respond to requests. The intimate atmosphere further is enhanced by air-conditioning.

It will be noted that the proprietor, Mr. Horst Riehmer, who personally supervizes the kitchen—meals and snacks a la carte are served—holds a diploma from the Cordon Bleue Cookery School in Paris. Not a cook by profession, he undertook this course to enhance his value in his vocation of catering to the entertainment needs of the public—his cooking might be styled an avocation.

The Maskee now has two separate cocktail bars over which five charming hostesses, including an English girl, preside. The management guarantees satisfaction.

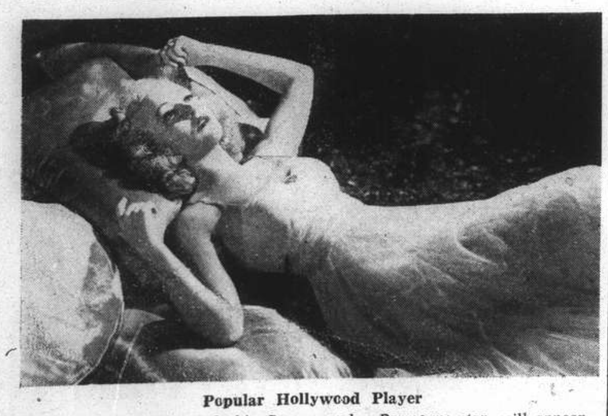
Mary Pickford's Plans

Miss Mary Pickford seems to have abandoned her acting career, but that is not to say that she has become inactive. Only the other day she was in England using her well-known business ability in discussing the affairs of United Artists with Mr Korda, Mr. Goldwyn and her ex-husband, Douglas Fairbanks, who must now be called senior. From England she went on to Paris where she is interested in commercialized beauty culture.

Back in America, she still does not appear to be contemplating a return to the studio. She is once more intent on writing and very soon we may see a successor to her first book of ethical advice with the title "Why not Try God?"

"Potash and Perlmutter"

Headed by Rosen and Valin, a number of members of the Russian Light Opera are presenting "Potash and Perlmutter" in the Lyceum on Saturday and Sunday nights, the comedians to be found in the name roles. Among those assisting are Bitner, Slobodskoy, Nevskaya, Gaidaroff, Tomsky, Novatskaya, Limury, Andreev and Tourenin.



Popular Hollywood Player

Betty Grable, wife of Jackie Coogan and a Parmount star, will appear shortly on Shanghai silver screens.

The Lunts To Make A Picture

Alexander Korda has returned from America to London as full of plans as ever. This time it looks as if the studios at Denham are really going to snap out of their over-long stagnation. Korda announced blandly on his arrival that "only a few stars—you can count them on the fingers of one hand—justify the salaries they receive." In future he is going to concentrate on good actors and writers and not bother about stars.

But if, as it is rumoured, he is persuading Alfred Lunt and Lynne Fontanne to make a picture for him while they are in England, he will have it both ways. The Lunts, inseparable both on and off the stage, are the most famous acting team in America.

When they are on holiday they read plays from morning to night. Some years ago they appeared on the screen in "The Guardsman," one of the wittiest and most polished films ever produced. What their first British film will be—if Korda's powers of persuasion win the day—has not yet been decided. It may be a film version of "Amphytrion 38," the play in which they are now appearing on the London stage. Or it may be an original subject.

To the much discussed stories, such as "Lawrence of Arabia" and "The Four Feathers," which Korda is making or has been going to make for the last two years, there has been added a new one which sounds highly promising. "Prison Without Bars" is the title, and the action is set in a French reformatory for girls. The chief part will be played by a fifteen-year-old "discovery" as yet unknown to the public.

Cinema Hits Played

All of the song hits of the recently-screened Walt Disney picture, "Snow White and the Seven Wharfs," are being played nightly at the Paramount Ballroom by Gloria Andico's dance band. The singing trio of the band adds to the entertainment with their vocal efforts. Tonight is Numbers Night, an occasion on which patrons have the opportunity to win valuable merchandise prizes. The Paramount is ideally air-conditioned and a tea dance is held every Sunday, at which floor entertainment is presented.

Arrival of Pianist

A few days ago, Mr. Waldemar Kostevich, a talented young pianist arrived il Shanghai. For the last seven years he studied music in Italy graduating as laureate at the Bologne Conservatory. After graduation he continued his studies under the famous maestro, Prof. Lonatti in Milan. Mr. Kostevich has given a number of successful concerts in Rome, Milan, Florence and other Italian cities as well in Switzerland. He is planning to remain in Shanghai permanently.

IMPARTIAL NOT NEUTRAL

A KING'S BIRTHDAY

Immediately on his succession in 1907, King Gustaf, whose birthday is being celebrated by Swedes today, showed that he had mastered the problems of the times and understood the change in the position of the Swedish monarchy which had actually taken place in consequence of the advance of democracy. The ten years preceding his accession to the throne had witnessed far-reaching alterations in the political life of the country. The extension of the franchise and the onward movement of the Left parties were the external signs of increasing political maturity and of the growing political and economic claims of the mass of the people. Really, a new era was being inaugurated. In accordance with the increasing prevalence of opinion as regards the vanity of outward pomp and of the need for equalizing power in the community the King decided to dispense with the coronation ceremony, which formerly had been the occasion of a display of great pomp and ceremony. For similar reasons he also diminished the pageant, for instance, at the opening of the Riksdag and other important occasions, and introduced, by way of setting a good example, greater simplicity in daily life. The King was not, however, spared great difficulties during the internal political contests which naturally occur during such times of transition as a result of fresh political and economic ideas spreading among the people. But the conflicts which several times seemed threatening were gradually smoothed out by constitutional means, thanks to wisdom and concessions based on the dependable experiences and firm organization of an old, well-established culture.

During the world war, when Sweden from the very first, and later on in spite of all difficulties, maintained a strict neutrality whatever else may have been imputed by any of the belligerent parties, King Gustaf played an important part especially in regard to the position of the three northern kingdoms Denmark, Norway and Sweden in the various stages of the war. Relations between Sweden and Norway had in the course of years generally improved and had even begun to develop into friendship, but between the two Royal Houses no rapprochement had taken place. In view of the great dangers that might threaten in case the three northern kingdoms—in accordance with certain predilections among the peoples and certain old connections, traditions and separate interests—should follow diverging courses in their policies under the pressure of the manifold political and economic complications, temptations, or more or less covert threats of the war, King Gustaf grasped the opportunity to remove the last remaining traces of the constitutional conflict with Norway, which had cost him the crown of that country. In December of 1914 he invited the Kings of Denmark and Norway to a meeting in Malmo, the capital of the southernmost province of Sweden. This was the celebrated Scandinavian Triple Royal meeting in which the Prime Ministers and Foreign Ministers of the respective countries took part, and where during the years of war was inaugurated what was practically a common policy of neutrality and mutual economic assistance. This co-operation was continued and strengthened as the stress was increased through increasingly more vigorous warfare. During the later stages this policy called for still further development through bringing about a lack of commodities, and thereupon the three northern kingdoms were formed into one single area of production with a free and mutual exchange of commodities.

The Triple Royal meeting at Malmo was followed by another one at Oslo in 1917, where King Gustaf, publicly calling to mind that the disruption of the Union in 1905 had dealt a severe blow to the idea of Scandinavian unity, made an appeal for a new form of unity, and agreement between the three countries. "Let us form a fresh union," he said in a public speech, "not of the old kind, but a union of mutual understanding and of hearts, the vitality of which I trust will be more lasting than that of the former kind." With that he grasped the hands of the other two Kings, and his appeal was sealed before the nations by a silent promise. It is impossible fully to estimate the importance during the difficult times of the war-crisis of the co-operation thus initiated between the three countries. It is a certainty however, that it has reacted favourably to them all during the years after the war, and that the beneficial effect of these northern royal meetings will continue in the future. King Gustaf has with great acumen judged the political conditions of his country and the claims for political expression of modern developments, with the consequence that the foundations of constitutional monarchy in Sweden stand firm. The advance of democracy during this generation has certainly to some extent, and inevitably, circumscribed the royal prerogative, but no essential alterations have occurred. The new developments, influenced by the traditions and experience of centuries, have taken place without serious disturbances. After the war Socialist Governments have alternated with Conservative and Moderate Governments without any change in relation to the Monarchy. King Gustaf has reached his advanced years in perfect mental and bodily health. He has always been a lover of open-air games and is a good sportsman, which is mainly why he still retains his full vigour. As everybody knows, he is still a good tennis player, able to enter the field against younger, prominent opponents, and even defeat them. This is something to be proud of at 80 years of age, even for a king. To the local Swedes who today will be celebrating their King's birthday this journal offers the congratulations of its readers expressing the hope that His Majesty will have many more years in which to continue those fine services which he has unstintingly rendered his country.

Historic Anking

Delving into Chinese history from the semi-legendary period of the Three Kingdoms onwards there is an abundance of interesting reference applicable to events on the Yangtze which is once again a great battlefield. Then, as now, large armies fought along its banks and large fleets of ships fought on its waters although the association was much happier than the present situation arising from the capture of Anking and the Japanese naval movement up the river. Anking, capital of Anhwei province, was not established as early as this period of heroes, strategists and knights which, in a romantic sense, dates Chinese history. The city was founded about the year 1280 towards the end of the Sung dynasty and its builders were refugees fleeing from the Mongols who found its high elevation, and its position on the river of great strategic and defensive value. For centuries it was unaffected by the change of dynasties until the Taiping rebellion when it was almost completely destroyed and some of the trenches and embankments still remain to illustrate the onslaught of fury and devastation. Since then the city has been rebuilt but the Great Pagoda, outside the city and built in 1580, remains one of the finest of its kind in the Yangtze. To it attaches a number of legends. It has a nautical derivation and Anking's importance with the river has resulted in its builders fixing two anchors to the structure, which is seven storeys high. In general belief it is supposed to play the part of a mast and sway in the breeze, and this is connected with a local superstition, according to one authority, that nobody with the name of "Peng" meaning "sail" or "Chang," meaning "oar" should be appointed to high office because this would mean that the city would float down river. The occupation of this city by Japanese naval and military forces poses a difficult question whether the superstition is not just imagination but a definite prediction for Anking is now a naval and military base and although this is no time to indulge in historic fantasies when aeroplanes, high explosives, tanks and warships are disturbing China's calm it is an interesting point to mention.

A Flood Defence

Indignation appears to have been aroused concerning the alleged cutting of the Yellow River dykes by the Chinese, and there is a tendency in some quarters to criticise them strongly for so doing. There are plenty of precedents for taking such a step, if indeed they did so, and it is necessary to go no further back in history than the Great War to find one, in the flooding large areas in Belgium for the purpose of holding up the German armies. Some capital is also made of the sufferings which must be inflicted upon the farmers in the districts involved. Fortunately large numbers of them have fled before the Japanese advance, and the mortality from flooding is not likely to be as large as if the river had run wild in times of peace. Criticism of what the Chinese have done in this regard is not well founded, and those indulging in it appear to have come to the conclusion that if there are any rules governing warfare, China at least should be expected to observe them. The Chinese are fighting a desperate struggle with a very powerful foe, and it cannot be expected of them that they should refrain from taking whatever advantage may be gained by flooding areas through which the Japanese will have to move in their march towards Hankow. That famine may follow the flood, as it so often does in China is to be regretted, but after all it merely adds in a small degree to the suffering of the millions of people driven from their homes and facing famine conditions even at the present moment. The Chinese policy of leaving only the scorched earth to the invader is every bit as terrible as loosing the flood waters of the Yellow River, and even if these things are considered hideous they are no more so than the very war which brings them about. If the plains of Honan and Anhwei are to remain flooded for the summer months, the Japanese forces may find their projected march on Hankow not quite so easy as it was at first believed, for it will make access to the mountains in which the Chinese are said to contemplate a final stand very difficult, and will probably oblige the Japanese to concentrate more on an advance along the north bank of the Yangtze.

Japan and Opium

Further details concerning the recent incident at the meeting of the League of Nations' Advisory Committee on Opium show that Mr. Eiji Amau, the Japanese delegate, was thoroughly heckled over the question of Japan's drug policy in China. Mr. Fuller, the American delegate, and an expert in matters connected with the illicit drug traffic, made definite charges that the Japanese Army and merchants were engaged in the drug traffic in China, and, following Mr. Amau's denial, other delegates are reported to have produced evidence to show that Japan was flooding occupied areas in China with drugs. It is an established fact that opium smoking has been legalized in the Peiping area, and that smoking establishments are being licensed and duly regulated. The attempts of the Chinese Government during recent years to put a stop to opium smoking have been completely nullified, and the situation is just about as bad now as it was when the Nanking Government sought to bring about necessary reforms. It may be argued that the step has been taken not by the Japanese Army officials, but by the provisional government established in Peiping. That is an argument which will hold no water, for the government is a creation of the Japanese and completely under their control. It will be remembered that following the esablishment of the independent government of Manchoukuo the traffic in narcotics increased enormously in that territory, conditions in such places as Harbin calling for much condemnation by journalists who visited them. Mr Amau had a difficult task before him which he sought to convince the Committee of the inaccuracy of the charges made by the Chinese delegate, and he does not appear to have succeeded. On the facts as they are easily ascertainable in the Far East a very grave responsibility rests upon Japan in this connection. She has jurisdiction over those people most active in the business and if it could be shown that such persons had been brought to book much of the present criticism would disappear.

"It's nothing whatever to do with the case," replied the accused. "Even if I am a liar, I'm entitled to be sensitive about it."

Mixed Metaphors

FROM a local contemporary:—

CLOUDS OVER THE WORLD

No little concern is keenly felt over the world situation today by political and economic dopesters. The incredibly swift flight of events in recent months throughout Europe is causing serious repercussions.

The historical changes that had taken place in the political set-up of Austria has sent a cold chill of apprehension down the spine of Czechoslovakia, a melting pot of various nationalities that may yet prove to be a tinder box liable to set the whole world on fire.

Locked in a deadly conflict, Fascism and Communism are occupying the centre of the European stage, each trying to assert its supremacy over the other by the number of men with which to feed canons. The rumblings of the terrific impact are heard all over the world, and small nations merely sit up tightly with mouths agape, wondering so to what will befall them.

The picture of a melting pot getting cold shivers down its spine can only be excelled by a sight of its transformation into a tinder box. But the allegation that certain nations are trying to assert their supremacy by the number of men "with which to feed canons," constitutes as grave a libel of a deserving body of clerics as we have seen for many a day. Our contemporary may rest assured that canons are not cannibalistic.

Many Farmers Menaced By Flood Waters

All Nationalities Combine to Save Lives of Peasants in Yellow River Area; Dyke Breaks Not Work of Japanese, Says Spokesman

NATIONALITY barriers were laid aside in the flooded plains of northern Honan yesterday as mankind wrote another chapter in its age-long battle against nature.

Chinese aided Japanese soldiers in bringing succour to the 300,000 farmers driven from their homes by the waters of the Yellow River pouring into the lowlands near Chungmow, halfway between Kaifeng and Chengchow, Domei dispatches reaching here said.

Westerners organized themselves into volunteer workers to deal with the sudden influx of frightened, destitute refugees into the already overcrowded capital of Honan.

Rescue squads built 150 rafts to search for survivors.

With rain pelting down pitilessly on the makeshift rafts, Japanese soldiers went about rescueing Chinese peasants marooned on heights or trees.

Under fire from Chinese on the opposite bank, Japanese engineer detachments yesterday reached the breaks in the embankments and immediately began the difficult task of filling the breaches.

In the meantime, other Japanese units temporarily laid aside their grim wartime duties to strengthen various secondary defences against the flood.

Many on Railway Embankment

Of particular importance among these was the Lunghai Railway, which is built on a high ground. Thousands of refugees were huddled on the right of way.

The inundated area, covering approximately 450 square kilometres, was yesterday about 20 kilometres in circumference with Chungmow in its centre. In some places the water was said to be 14 feet deep.

More than 300,000 persons were estimated to have been driven away from their homes and 10,000 are believed to have lost their lives. Several hamlets have been totally engulfed.

Eighty Occidental missionaries, representing various creeds, yesterday organized an emergency committee to assist the refugees. In addition to making arrangements for housing and feeding Chinese driven from their homes, they will also seek to stem the flow of the water.

Japanese engineers were attempting to divert the flood into the Ying and Luku rivers.

Cause of Floods Disputed

Chinese allegations that the floods were caused by damage inflicted upon the Yellow River dykes by Japanese shelling and bombing were described as "preposterous" by a Japanese Army spokesman in Shanghai last night.

The breaches, the spokesman charged, were made by the Chinese military, who, he said, "invoked the aid of nature when their strength failed them in stemming the Japanese advance."

The flooding of an area, the spokesman continued, was traditionally a "defensive move." While the flooding of the Chengchow area had necessitated a change in the plans of the Japanese army, resultant losses were "not large," he claimed.

Honan Plain Threatened

The water is cascading down a three foot drop, spreading over a width of six kilometres across the flat, sandy plain of northern Honan.

Thousands of Chinese farmers than the Japanese could ever be jeopardized "by this act of their own countrymen," he stated.

The spokesman bitterly criticize the breaking of the embankment, pointing out that "more civilian lives than the Japanese could ever jeopardize by bombing" had been placed in immediate danger.

Kaifeng Appears Safe

The flood was flowing towards Chusenchen, 20 kilometres south-east of Kaifeng, and Yuishih, 45 kilometres south-east of the Honan provincial capital. Kaifeng, the spokesman intimated, appeared to be safe.

Japanese engineers, assisted by thousands of anxious Chinese, were attempting to stem the spread of the water, but were hampered in their efforts by Chinese soldiery, who fired on working parties, he stated.

The major breach, the spokesman continued, was at Sanliuchai, halfway between Kaifeng and Chengchow, while another breach had apparently been made at Kingsuichen, directly north of Kaifeng.

"While it is true that this flood has caused inconvenience to the Japanese military operations, it has only served in cutting one route along which the Japanese intended to advance," the spokesman said.

Not Taken by Surprise

The Japanese command, he claimed, had not been taken by surprise. Counter-measures had already been taken, the spokesman asserted.

Chinese charges that the breaches had been caused by Japanese shelling were emphatically denied by the spokesman, Japanese forces, he declared, had not approached the points where the breaches in the embankments had been made.

Continued rains, coupled with the seasonal rise in the Yellow River, were hampering Japanese efforts to stem the floods caused by the breaches in the embankments, Keifeng dispatches said yesterday.

Little hope was held that the gap would be closed as Japanese engineers were prevented by Chinese soldiers from approaching the area where the breach was made, the reports said.

The breach at Kiangsuchen, north of Chengchow, had "backfired" on the Chinese, whose positions were under several feet of water, aerial observation was reported to have shown.

Floods Move South-east

Hankow, June 15.

The flood waters of the Yellow River, which crossed the Lunghai Railway on Sunday, have now entered the Chialu River, flowing south-eastward into the Hwai River, in Anhwei province, according to Chinese despatches from Chengchow.

The level of the flood waters is said to be high at Kaifeng, where the Japanese are said to have closed

Anking, June 15.

Fifteen Jesuit fathers of the Spanish Catholic Mission and two Italian missionaries here are safe, Japanese military authorities stated today, in announcing that order has been restored three days after the occupation of the city.

Names of the Spanish priests were given as follows: The Rt. Rev. Mgr. F. Melendro, vicar apostolic; the Rev. J. Diez, the Rev. J. Rodriguez, the Rev. F. Heras, the Rev. F. Brusi, the Rev. D. Canal, the Rev. A. Alvarez, the Rev. E. Delgado, the Rev. P. Gonzalez, the Rev. H. Carlos, the Rev. J. Benjamin, the Rev. G. Alonso and the Rev. J. Reviriego. The name of one of the Italian fathers was given as the Rev. Mario Francesconi.

Notices urging residents of the city to go about their daily pursuits peacefully were posted on walls on the main streets. A military post office set up at the site of a former printing office is doing a rushing business.

A committee was organized today to prepare for the establishment of a Peace Preservation Commission.

Chinese Force Routed

A Japanese detachment routed 300 Chinese soldiers entrenched at Meitanshan, six kilometres north-west of Anking, on Monday afternoon, Japanese commanders stated today.

The Chinese retreated, leaving 50 dead, ten rifles and a large quantity of ammunition. The engagement was fought by troops of the Sato detachment which entered Anking with the Takahashi detachment on Sunday.

The Japanese unit encountered the Chinese after cutting a highway linking Anking with Tungcheng, north of the former city.

Japanese advance units were said to have reached an unnamed point about 12 kilometres north-west of here yesterday in pursuit of retreating Chinese soldiers. Other Japanese columns were said to be pursuing the Chinese in a westerly direction, despite rainy weather and mud which covered the roads. In some places the mud was knee deep.—Domei.

Four Arrested in Drug Raids in Settlement

Suspected of Narcotics Supply to Sailors

Believed to be among the principal agents of a ring supplying drugs to smugglers on board the U.S.T. Chaumont and other American vessels, four Chinese were arrested by the Settlement Police, in co-operation with French detectives, yesterday in the course of a number of raids in the Settlement and the French Concession. The arrests came as a result of information received from the United States, following the arrest of a mail clerk on the U.S.T. Chaumont and another member of the crew some time ago. These two men have already been charged with smuggling narcotics.

The men arrested yesterday were a merchant of the Louza district; a tailor catering to American sailors, for which purpose he has a pass to go aboard vessels in the harbour; a jeweller whose shop was formerly in East Broadway and now in Bubbling Well Road; and one more Chinese whose identity could not be ascertained last evening.

The first arrest was made on the Bund. Thereafter members of the S.M.P. Narcotics Squad, under Sub-Inspr. A. Rhind, visited a number of addresses, at which the three other suspects were taken into custody. Detectives of the Narcotics Squad were following up clues gained from correspondence seized during the raids earlier in the day at a late hour last night. Further arrests were confidently expected.

The arrests bring to an end a long search for the suppliers of narcotics to American seamen and others travelling between Shanghai and Pacific Coast ports. It is understood that two of the suspects taken yesterday were holders of passes from the U.S. Naval authorities for boarding American warships.

Japan Protests Over Iron Ore Embargo

Australian Legislation Stirs Opposition

Sydney, June 15.

The Japanese Government sent a further note to the Australian Government today protesting against the action of the Australian Government in prohibiting the export of iron ore to Japan.

Meanwhile, it has been officially admitted here that in the event of Australia adhering to the embargo Japan will be entitled to demand of the Australian Government compensation to the extent of several million pounds sterling in view of the capital investments made by Japan in the Australian iron ore mines in Yampi. These investments are estimated at between £300,000 and £400,000.—Trans-Ocean.

Canton Again Raided By Japan Planes

Ambassador in London Justifies Attacks

Canton, June 15.

The air raid alarm was sounded once again at 5.30 a.m. today, and soon afterwards twelve Japanese 'planes came over in formations of three each.

They dropped a number of bombs here and there over the city, mostly in the vicinity of the Central Park.

A number of houses were demolished, but fortunately the casualties were slight. Official Chinese reports state that ten persons were killed and 30 injured.

The "All clear" signal was given at 8 a.m.

The alarm was sounded again at 9 a.m., but the raiders this time avoided the city, concentrating their attention on the railways, and dropping bombs on the Canton-Hankow and Canton-Kowloon lines.

The Canton-Hongkong telephone line was put out of action during the sceond raid.

The "All clear" signal was sounded shortly before 11 a.m.—Reuter.

To "Demoralize the Chinese"

London, June 15.

Mr. Shigeru Yoshida, Japanese Ambassador in London, yesterday received a deputation of five members of the China Campaign Committee.

He declared last night that the Japanese Government "found it necessary to destroy the anti-Japanese movement in China."

In the beginning, Mr. Yoshida declared, it was hoped that the war could be localized in the North, but the Japanese forces had "reluctantly to go on to Shanghai and Nanking, and now to Canton."

"The Japanese," Mr. Yoshida, went on, "did not want to bomb Canton, but the bombings were undertaken in order to demoralize the Chinese people, and prevent reinforcements being sent from Canton."

The new Japanese Cabinet, he added, wanted to "finish the war as soon as possible."

Mr. Wilfrid Roberts, Liberal Member for the Northern Division of Cumberland, declared on behalf of the deputation that "British opinion is divided on many issues, but everyone in the House of Commons, and throughout the country, is shocked by the ruthless and cruel conduct of the war, and of the aerial bombardments, which have seriously strained friendship between Great Britain and Japan."

Thousands of people watched a procession through the West End organized by the China Campaign Committee on June 13.—Reuter.

Japanese Bomb Kweilin

Hongkong, June 15.

The capital of Kwangsi province, Kweilin, suffered yesterday afternoon its first air raid since the beginning of the Sino-Japanese hostilities. 150,000,000 Affected By Hostilities

War Spreads Misery Over Wide Area in China

A total of 150,000,000 Chinese have been directly or indirectly affected by the present hostilities, and destitute refugees total 30,000,000, the International Relief Committee announced today. Refugees registered at refugee camps total 1,000,000.

The Chinese Government, it is understood, has already appropriated $1,600,000 for the relief of refugees.

The International Relief Commitee is arranging with the five provincial governments of Hunan, Szechuen, Kwangtung, Kwangsi and Yunnan to accommodate at least 10,000 refugees in each province.

A total of 200,000 refugees will be sent to southern Kiangsi for work on a land reclamation project.—Reuter.

Tokyo Press Repeats Charges Of French Aid to China

Threat to Hainan Island; Paris Vigorously Denies Accusations; Figures Cited to Prove Falsity

Tokyo, June 15.

IF French authorities in Indo-China continue their alleged military assistance to China, "well informed observers" in Japan fear that Hainan Island "may become another scene of Sino-Japanese hostilities," metropolitan newspapers said today.

The dailies said that the Japanese Government and people are giving "vigilant attention" to press reports that negotiations are under way with the Governor-General of Indo-China, M. Jules Brevie, "for securing French assistance in defending Hainan Island."

"Despite French denials," the press quoted observers as saying, "there are various definite indications increasingly lending colour to the rumours of a secret agreement between France and China."

The journals referred again to reports that General Chiang Kai-shek was offering France railway and mining concessions in the south-western provinces, including Yunnan, for French assistance.

The papers quoted other unverified reports to the effect that negotiations are under way between France and China "For the transportation of arms and ammunition on French warships from French Indo-China."

"In case the French authorities of Indo-China persist in extending military assistance to the Chiang Kai-shek administration," the press said, quoting the observers again, "and if they co-operate in the military installations on Hainan Island, we fear the situation there will inevitably be aggravated. In that case Hainan Island may become another scene of Sino-Japanese hostilities.

"Because it is quite imaginable that the Chiang Kai-shek administration, falling back on military assistance from France, may resort to fresh provocation of Japan."—Domei.

Vigorous French Denial

Paris, June 15.

The greatest surprise is expressed in diplomatic quarters here as a result of the persistent attacks against France made in the Japanese press of late. The latter allege that French war supplies are being sent to China in big quantities, and some newspapers even go so far as to threaten the security of French Indo-China.

Politicians are commenting widely, too, on Japanese reports that General Kazushige Ugaki, the Foreign Minister himself, speaking at a recent Cabinet meeting referred to a "secret Franco-Chinese accord whereby supplies are sent to China."

The existence of any such alleged pact is categorically denied by authorized quarters here, who recall that such rumours had been denied previously on repeated occasions.

"No war material whatsoever, apart from that ordered by China before the outbreak of hostilities, is being transported through Indo-China," the same circles assert.

Statistics Support Contention

The latest statistics bolster this contention and indicate that China's imports of French war materials are the smallest when compared to those of other nations.

War supplies exported from France to China during 1937 totalled 2,800,000 Gold Units, representing an amount equal to British exports in the same period. The United States and Germany, however, exported 6,200,000 and 7,000,000 Gold Units' worth of materials that could be used in war manufacture.

Furthermore, 60 per cent. of the supplies going into China during 1937 went in via Hongkong's harbour.

Franco-Japanese Pact

Finally, diplomats recall the Franco-Japanese Agreement of 1907, which France has always respected.

This accord provides that North China is reserved for Japan's commercial influence and that France is not opposed to Japanese penetration in that area. It also provides, however, that Chinese districts along the Indo-Chinese borders should be reserved for French influence.

France is determined to remain faithful to the spirit and law of this agreement, the same diplomats declare.

They emphasize particularly that last December, France prohibited the transit through Indo-China of any arms or ammunition, whether French or foreign, apart from those cargoes which China's Government had ordered before the conflict. They also point out, in conclusion, that France was the sole Power which took such action, even though a state of war has never been declared.—Havas.

Statement in Tokyo

Tokyo, June 15.

Questioned by foreign correspondents today regarding reports of French military assistance to China, a spokesman of the Foreign Office said he had no official report but "lots of information, some of which is fairly reliable."

The spokesman said one report which had come to his attention claimed that a younger brother of Mr. T. V. Soong, who has been stationed in Hanoi as a representative of the Chiang Kai-shek administration, concluded a contract with a French firm for constructing a railway between Chennankwan and Nanning.

A party of French engineers has already been sent to Nanning from Indo-China, the report said.

The spokesman said if such a railway is constructed it would be connected with Yunnanfu by a motor highway by way of Paishih, "thus forming an important line of communication between Indo-China and Yunnan for the transportation of arms and ammunition."

The spokesman said the report claimed that the railway will be constructed quickly as a permanent right-of-way already has been pre-

Asked whether the French attitude regarding alleged military assistance to China was "friendly or unfriendly toward Japan," the spokesman declined to reply, saying he would "leave that to the judgment of the questioner."—Domei.

Further Accusations Against Japan Made at Geneva Anti-Drug Parley

Japanese Delegate's Denial of Charges Bring Additional Allegations of China Trafficking

Geneva, June 14.

Mr. Eiji Amau, Japanese delegate to the League of Nations' Advisory Committee on Opium, today denied official American charges that the Japanese Army and Japanese merchants were engaged in the drug traffic in China.

He said Japan had taken radical measures against the drug traffic in Tientsin.

Mr. Amau's denial immediately drew additional accusations against Japan from other delegates who presented evidence that the Japanese Army was flooding occupied areas of China with drugs in an effort to "keep the Chinese people under subjugation."

"So Much Smoke, No Fire?"

"How can there be so much smoke without fire?" the Belgium delegate asked Mr. Amau.

The Japanese delegate yesterday succeeded in preventing the Committee from viewing a film depicting Japanese drug activities in Tientsin and in the Japanese Concession at Hankow prior to the outbreak of the Sino-Japanese war. The film had been offered by Mr. Victor Hoo, Chinese delegate, who said that Japan's policy of flooding China with opium was in the long run "murderous."

American Accusations

Mr. Amau's denial was directed against the statement made before the Committee yesterday by Mr. Stuart J. Fuller, Assistant Chief of the Far Eastern Division of the State Department and American delegate to the League Committee.

Mr. Fuller said Japan was fostering the spread of opium in China and Manchuria and was responsible for large drug shipments from China to the United States.

The American delegate said no measures had been taken to control the opium traffic in Japanese-occupied areas and that the Japanese Army itself was importing opium for distribution among the Chinese.—United Press.

Berlin, June 14.

Germany's Chancellor, Herr Adolf Hitler, challenged the defence of civilization by democracies today in a speech at the laying of the cornerstone of the house of German tourist traffic in Berlin. Worst Japan Train Wreck in Years

At Least 25 Killed, 155 Injured; 16 Children Among the Dead

Tokyo, June 15.

At least 25 persons were killed and 155 injured when two passenger trains were wrecked near Okayama in western Japan at 3.50 o'clock this morning, according to reports this afternoon from the scene of the disaster.

Sixteen primary school children were among the dead. Fifty-five of the injured are in a serious condition, while the remainder suffered minor injuries.

A northbound passenger train en route from Shimonoseki to Kyoto plunged off the rails and over an embankment and a few minutes later a southbound passenger train ploughed into the rear end of it.

Cause of Accident

The derailment was believed to have been caused by the weakening of the roadbed by heavy rains: at a point between Wake and Kumayama. The scene of the wreck is 118 kilometres from Kobe.

It was one of the worst train disasters in Japan in many years.

The locomotive of the derailed train and the first three coaches behind it ran over the bank. The last coach was hurled on the adjoining track and struck by the southbound train.

All the victims of the wreck were passengers of the northbound train, according to reports received by the Police Bureau of the Home Ministry from the Governor of Okayama Prefecture.

Rescue Trains Sent

Traffic on the railway was thrown into complete confusion by the wreck. The line was expected to be reopened this afternoon by repair gangs dispatched to the scene by the Ministry of Railways.

Two rescue trains were sent by the Ministry early this morning. They carried railway officials, investigators, doctors, nurses, first aid supplies and provisions.—Domei.

Palestine Control Strengthened

Commons Told W. Indies "Disturbances Express Sense of Unrest Which We Must Respect"

London, June 15.

"I HOPE that the combination of recent efforts will very substantially reduce the number of incidents in Palestine," declared Mr. Malcolm MacDonald, Secretary of State for the Colonies, reviewing the colonial situation in the House of Commons yesterday.

"Nevertheless," he continued, "the Government is watching the situation with the greatest care, and have under active consideration the question whether more forces are required for the final attainment of our objective of restoring law and order."

Mr. MacDonald added that the Woodhead Commission had been instructed to complete their work as quickly as was consistent with thoroughness and efficiency.

The Government, Mr. MacDonald stated, would give its attention to the Commission's report immediately it was received.

West Indies Situation

Dealing with the situation in the West Indies, Mr. MacDonald foreshadowed the appointment of a Royal Commission to inquire into social and economic conditions there.

The terms of reference and constitution of the Commission, Mr. MacDonald added, would require careful consideration.

The recent disturbances, Mr. MacDonald declared, were not the result of a "passing whim," nor were they surface movements without roots.

They expressed, he said, a sense of unrest which was fairly widespread, and "arises from feelings which we must respect." Except for a small minority, the demonstrators were not moved by anti-British feeling, he went on.

Loyalty to Crown Undoubted

"No people in the British Empire are more loyal than its subjects in the West Indies," Mr. MacDonald said, "and that fact should make a stronger appeal to our sympathy when considering ways of improving the economic situation."

The local Government in Jamaica, Mr. MacDonald concluded, was not "unaware, indifferent or idle" when the recent outburst occurred, and a Committee of Enquiry into workers' wages was proceeding when the workers tried to take the situation into their own hands.—Reuter.

Sir John Reith Heads Imperial Airways

Sir James Price Made Director of Company

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

London, June 15.

Sir Kingsley Wood, Secretary for Air, yesterday informed the House of Commons that Sir John Reith had accepted the invitation to become whole-time chairman of Imperial Airways.

At the same time, the Board nominated Sir James Prince, until recently Deputy Chairman of the Ministry of Labour, as a director. His appointment will enable the company to draw on his wide experience of labour and staff questions.

Sir Kingsley Wood added that the Board had also expressed a strong refutation of the charges made in the House of Commons on May 31, and had asked the new chairman to investigate these charges, which were directed at the management of the company. When this was completed, Sir Kingsley Wood went on, it was proposed to make a public statement on the matter.

In view of the fact that the appointment of a whole-time chairman carried with it the position of Chief Executive of the company, Mr. Woods Humphrey, the present Managing Director of the company, had placed his resignation in the hands of the Board. The Board had accepted Mr. Humphrey's resignation, and had placed on record its strong appreciation of his services.—Reuter.

Commons Informed On Shanghai

Better Atmosphere Improves Relations With Japanese

London, June 15.

"Reports we have received from Shanghai indicate that a better atmosphere exists between the Japanese and British authorities there, and two or three outstanding cases have been satisfactorily settled," declared Mr. Neville Chamberlain, Prime Minister, in the House of Commons yesterday, referring to the China situation.

Mr. Chamberlain had been asked by a member to make a statement with regard to the state of affairs in China.

He recapitulated the recent military operations, and declared that Sir Robert Craigie, British Ambassador in Tokyo, had made representations to the Japanese Government regarding the air raids on Canton.

The Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Mr. R. A. Butler, in reply to a question, said His Majesty's Government had done their best, within the limits which the situation imposed on them, to implement to the full their obligations to China under League resolutions. The Government, he said, were continuing the examination of the question, which raised many difficulties.—Reuter and Wireless.

Britons Barred from Nanking

London, June 15.

An allegation that Japanese officials in Nanking were refusing to allow British subjects to enter the city to inspect or protect their property was made by Mr. Neil MacLean, Labour member for the Goven division of Glasgow, in the House of Commons today.

In reply Mr. R. A. Butler, Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, said that representations had been made by Sir Robert Craigie, the British Ambassador in Tokyo, designed to facilitate the return of British subjects concerned.

As far as he knew, he added, the attitude of the Japanese authorities was that this part of the Yangtze Valley formed part of the area of military operationss.—Reuter.

Rush to Purchase Gold In London

Bullion Brokers Swamped With Buying Orders

London, June 14.

The rush to acquire gold as protection against the contingency of an early devaluation of the dollar flared up again today. Bullion brokers were inundated with buying orders from Europe, Asia and America.

Over £1,500,000 worth of gold changed hands at the fixing, with buyers paying a premium of 8d. over the American dollar parity.

Well-informed quarters in London continue to deride rumours of the devaluation of either the dollar or of all currencies adhering to the Tripartite Monetary Agreement.

They point out that such steps will only likely prove to be palliative and will not be a cure for the declining trend of commodity prices.—Reuter.

Tientsin Market Has "Battle of Flour"

Japanese Oust Australian, Ousted by Shanghai Dealers

Tokyo, June 15.

A "battle over flour" is going on among representatives of Japan, China and Australia at Tientsin, according to information received today from commercial circles, there.

Monthly sales of flour in the Tientsin market total a million and a half bags and this figure is increasing with the restoration of peace and order in the interior, the reports said.

Australian flour, the reports stated, has been dominating the Tientsin market since late in March, but the recent slump in Chinese currency made importations of Australian flour difficult. As a result, the position of Japanese flour on the market has been enhanced lately, the information said.

At the same time Shanghai flour is appearing on the Tientsin market now and threatening to oust Japanese flour, the commercial agents reported.—Domei.

Commons Statement

London, June 14.

Questioned in the House of Commons today on the position in Czechoslovakia, the Prime Minister, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, said he was hopeful that, with the goodwill both parties were now showing, a settlement could be reached by negotiation between the Czech Government and the Sudeten Party.

But, he said, if these delicate and difficult negotiations were to be carried on in a suitable atmosphere it was essential that utmost patience and restraint be exercised both in Czechoslovakia and elsewhere.

The British Minister in Prague had continued to emphasize in several recent interviews with the Czech President, Dr. Eduard Benes, and members of the Czech Government the urgent importance of reaching a comprehensive and lasting settlement by negotiation.—Wireless through Reuter.

Ship Quarantined At Chefoo

British Vessel Held Up for Cholera Case; Disease Breaks Out at Soochow

Cholera caused the death of one Chinese passenger in the British-owned Butterfield & Swire ss. Shuntien in Chefoo on June 13, a Japanese Embassy spokesman announced yesterday evening. The vessel, the spokesman declared, was quarantined.

With Chefoo under Japanese naval occupation, the spokesman said that he "believed" that the quarantine services were being operated by the Japanese naval authorities.

The ss. Shuntien sailed from Shanghai for North China ports on June 11.

"While Japanese lines require the presentation of an anti-cholera inoculation certificate before passage to north China or Dairen will be sold, this practice is not being followed by other steamship lines," the spokesman commented.

Twenty-two cases of cholera, the spokesman added, had been reported in Soochow up to Monday. Eight of the patients, all Chinese, had died.

The Japanese Consulate-General in Shanghai, the spokesman went on, had stopped the issue of bills of health to vessels proceeding to Japan. This was because Shanghai and Woosung had been officially designated as cholera-infected harbours.

These documents, certifying that the vessel was not carrying a communicable disease and had not entered an infected port, facilitated quarantine formalities upon arrival in Japan, the spokesman explained.

Approval Greets Defence Loan

British "Government's Most Attractive Offer in a Long Time"

London, June 15.

"The most attractive offer the Government has made for a long time," is how a leading broker describes the second Defence Loan of the British Government, in an interview with Reuter.

The broker's remark epitomises the City's opinion of the Loan, which, contrary to its predecessor, has met with the warmest approval in investment circles.

The amount of the new Loan is £80,000,000, bearing interest at three per cent., and redeemable from 1954 to 1958. The issue price is 98 per cent.

Not only is the yield regarded as satisfactory, but the life of the loan is considered attractive for large investors, such as building societies and insurance companies, which prefer to invest their large funds in loans under par.

Brokers Approve

In this connection, it is pointed out that insurance companies actuarially require at least a 3⅛ per cent. yield, a condition which is satisfied by the new loan.

Brokers are advising private investors to switch from corporation loans to this senior stock.

Some stagging, mostly on the part of the larger capitalists, is expected.

The gilt-edged securities market initially responded to the new loan by marking-down existing stocks from 1 to 2⅛ points in anticipation of selling. When unloading, however, failed to materialize, a recovery set in, dashing the hopes of bears, which had been short in stock, to cover their commitments cheaply.

Government's Technique Changes

While admitting the attractiion of the Loan, the money market stresses the change in the Government's issuing technique. The Treasury now appears to prefer an immediate certain loss by granting favourable terms to uncertain subsequent losses which might be incurred if Public Departments gradually unloaded stock previously not digested by the public.

It is not believed that the decision to offer the loan on more favourable terms implies that the authorities expect dearer money.—Reuter.

Japan Asks Better British Relations

Change of Attitude Seen By Independent Observers In Tokyo

Tokyo, June 15.

A fresh attempt at bringing about an improvement in Anglo-Japanese relations has become apparent here during the last few days. This attempt is being undertaken mainly with a view to surmounting the difficulties of a political and economic character caused by the China conflict.

Whereas Britain was until quite recently represented as the main instigator of the Chinese resistance, there is now almost an unqualified desire expressed in nearly every issue of the leading Japanese newspapers for the re-establishment of good relations with Britain. Much, for instance, is being made of the fact that General Kazushige Ugaki, the new Foreign Minister, has already had several talks with Sir Robert Craigie, British Ambassador in Tokyo, with the object, it is claimed, of settling differences which have arisen out of the Sino-Japanese hostilities.

According to the newspaper "Miyako Shimbun," the new Japanese Foreign Minister is very keen on maintaining good relations with the United States of America as a preliminary to reaching an understanding with Britain. If he is successful in this direction, he will tackle the task of easing off the tension existing between Japan and Soviet Russia.

All Japanese newspapers are agreed that every attempt to bring about a rapprochement in this direction will be frustrated at the outset if Britain continues to lend alleged support to the Chinese Nationalist Government.

Britain, it is contended, is not impelled to lend support of this sort in order to safeguard British interests in China, seeing that Japan has repeatedly undertaken to respect British interests in China in full.—Trans-Ocean.

New Rubber Ruling

London, June 14.

The International Rubber Regulation Committee has authorized estates of all signatory countries, as from July 1, to keep stocks at the equivalent of a quarter of 1937 standard assessments, Reuter is reliably informed today.

This move merely anticipates the agreement coming into force, next year, and it is understood that it is not connected with the question of a Buffer Pool as some market circles suggest.

The authorization aims at avoiding a sudden increase in estate stocks at the end of the year from the present premissible level, which amounts to only 7½ per cent. of standard assessments, while, at the same time, alleviating the labour situation.

The majority of rubber interests welcomed this action of the Committee, but prices were not affected in any way.—Reuter.

Castellon Remnant Still Holding Out

Nationalists Pursue Hotly, Attempting to Cut Off Retreat

Hendaye, June 14.

Rapidly retreating toward Valencia after the fall of Castellon de la Plana yesterday, the Republicans today dynamited bridges along Rio Mijares, five miles south of the captured stronghold, in an effort to impede the fast-pursuing Navarese and Galician divisions, it was reported here.

The withdrawal orders given the Republican forces defending Castellon de la Plana and the vicinity were so urgent that the dynamiting of the bridges caused 3,000 Republicans to be stranded on the north bank of the river.

Following bitter rearguard action the stranded Republicans capitulated to the overwhelming numbers of Nationalist troops.

Bent on cutting off the flight to Valencia, the Nationalists began crossing the Rio Mijares on pontoons and they launched an attack on Villarreal, seven miles south of Castellon de la Plana.

Nationalist aircraft also participated in the fighting, four planes heavily bombing Valencia. They destroyed twenty buildings but there were no reports regarding casualties.—United Press.

Republicans Hold Out

Madrid, June 15.

The Republican forces in Castellon de la Plana, are still holding out, it is claimed here.

It is stated semi-officially that the Nationalist warships Cervera and Canarias shelled Castellon yesterday morning, but were driven off by Republican warplanes.

There were three air raids on Valencia yesterday, in which 90 bombs were dropped, sixty houses destroyed, three persons killed and 21 injured.

Air raids on villages in the region of Castellon de la Plana resulted in eight persons being killed and 21 injured. Most of those killed, it is reported, were refugees from Castellon de la Plana, who were fleeing towards Valencia.—Reuter.

Apology to France

Paris, June 14.

The Burgos Nationalist Spanish Government expressed regrets today over a recent incident which drew a protest from France. The incident involved a Nationalist airplane which flew over St. Jean de Luz. Burgos explains that the craft was a tourist 'plane piloted by certain South American visitors who crossed the Spanish frontier by mistake.—Havas.

Soviet Envoy Recalled

Moscow, June 15.

The Soviet Ambassador in Barcelona, M. Gaikis, has been summoned to Moscow to report on the situation arisen from the rapid Nationalist advance on Valencia.

M. Gaikis was called to Moscow when the Nationalists broke through to the Mediterranean but the journey was postponed after urgent consultations with the Spanish Republican Premier, Dr. Juan Negrin.—Trans-Ocean.

Many Farmers Menaced By Flood Waters

all city gates to prevent the city from being flooded.

In most places, however, the flood waters are stated to be only about three to four feet high, so that Japanese casualties due to the flood are believed to be very small, but Japanese artillery and mechanized units are said to have been rendered useless.

Closure of the breaks in the Yellow River dykes is believed to be impossible for several months, at least not until the water recedes in the winter.

On the other hand, many observers are of the opinion that the present flood may solve China's centuries-old problem of allowing the Yellow River to find its natural course, since the present course, is artificially maintained, with the river bed higher than cities along its course.

Cities along the river are at present comparatively deserted as a result of the war, and this state of affairs, it is stated, affords an excellent chance for the river to find its natural course without causing a terrible death toll.—Reuter.

French Police Seek Hit and Run Driver

Two Serious Accidents Reported Since Monday

The French authorities are determined to take steps against reckless drivers, who in the course of the last three days have been responsible for at least two grave traffic accidents. These accidents were occasioned by foreign drivers and in each members of French Police Force were seriously injured.

On Monday at about 0.35 a.m. a police patrol composed of a Russian auxiliary constable and a Chinese policeman were proceeding along Route Pichon, when a motor car driven by a foreigner suddenly appeared and before they could dodge, they were both knocked over on to the pavement. Taken to hospital badly wounded, they still remain there under treatment.

Two days later French Police auxiliary Constable Kacharoff was travelling in public rickshaw near the intersection of Rue Lafayette and Route Pichon at about midnight when a foreign-driven automobile hit the rickshaw, seriously injuring both the occupant and the puller. The driver fled after the accident while the badly-hurt victims were taken to hospital. Pieces of shattered glass from broken headlights were found on the spot.

Persons having any information which may lead to identification of the driver or vehicle responsible for this accident are asked to communicate with the French Police Central Station, addressing themselves to the Service de la Sûreté.

Judging by the reaction of last night's audience at the Metropol Theatre to the antics of Mr. Jack Oakie and Mr. Bob Burns in "Radio City Revels," they should not be able to raise another laugh for weeks. Comedy at its craziest is provided by this inimitable pair, and the audience were literally doubled up each time they appeared. Mr. Kenny Baker and Miss Ann Miller, who played the leading roles, sang and danced respectively in great style, two songs of the former—"Take a tip from the tulip" and "Speak your heart" lingering long in the memory. Scenic effects and ensemble dances round off a good evening's entertainment. The story depicts the efforts of Lester, an Arkansas show boat performer, who composes songs in his sleep, but is unconscious of the fact, to take lessons in song writing from Harry (Mr. Jack Oakie) and Teddy (Mr. Milton Berle). As soon as they realize that Lester means money to them the fun starts, but in the end they are found out. Everything ends well, however, and the finale is well carried out. Most of the action takes place in New York's Radio City, and music throughout the film is provided by Mr. Hal Kemp and his Orchestra.—P.S.

Britain May Stop German Payments

Austrian Loan Talks Hitch Reaction Will End Clearing Accord

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

London, June 15.

The German contention regarding non-liability for Austrian external loans was the subject of a question in the House of Commons yesterday.

Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, stated in reply that it was arranged during the recent discussions in Berlin that, failing a satisfactory settlement, the "British Government may terminate the present Anglo-German payments agreement on June 30 without notice."

"We are, therefore, free to take any necessary measure from that date," Sir John declared, amid cheers from the House.—Reuter.

Berlin Views Stated

Berlin, June 15.

It would appear that the German Government has decided to favour the principle of the payment of interest on loans incurred by Austria prior to the Anschluss.

The method of transfer, however, would have to be settled separately with each of the creditor countries, it is understood. The latter, apparently, are dissatisfied with the offer of the German Government, which they consider inconsistent with the Reich's capacity for payment.

Financial circles point out that the only obstacle to the reduction of interest on the German-Austrian loans is the "refusal of the Reich to admit their financial liabilities unequivocally."

Failing a settlement of the Austrian loans question, a clearing arrangement will probably be enforced between Great Britain and the Reich. It is emphasized that the Agreement would be purely on the commercial side, and negotiations, in the case of Great Britain, would be made contingent upon the satisfactory settlement of the Austrian loans question.—Reuter.

More Japanese Exports Greatly Needed

Tokyo Journal on Grave Necessity

Tokyo, June 15.

Stressing the necessity of promoting Japanese exports to third countries, the "Asahi Shimbun" pointed out today that the main objective of activities for the promotion of Japanese exports was the acquisition of gold currencies to pay for imports.

Simultaneously, the newspaper declared, the influx of manufactures from third countries into Manchoukuo, Central China and North China should definitely be checked.

Japanese traders and manufacturers, the "Asahi" went on, were pressing for increased exports to Manchoukuo, Central China and North China, in order to offset shrinkages overseas and in domestic markets.

At the same time, the journal added, the Ministry of Commerce was apparently planning to restrict Japanese exports to these Yen bloc countries at, or below, 1937 exports, notably cotton yarns, cotton tissues and woollen goods.—Reuter.

Five Robbers Captured By French Police

Crime Solved Three Hours After it was Commited

Five Chinese, two of whom were armed with pistols, entered 1141 Rue Lafayette yesterday at about 6 p.m. and held up the occupants whom they robbed of clothing, money and jewellery of considerable value. They left the premises before the police were notified, but as they were leaving, one of the occupants followed them unobserved and pointed them out to the alley watchman. The latter followed one of the robbers all the way from the house to Bd. de Montigny. There, as the robber approached a police patrol on duty, watchman pulled out his police whistle raised an alarm and had him arrested.

Questioned at the police station, the robber indicated the meeting place of the gang, a small hotel off Yu Ya Ching Rd., where two more members of the gang were arrested and one pistol seized.

These in turn pointed out another address where two more arrests were made, the second pistol confiscated, and the whole of the loot recovered. The loot was retrieved within three hours after the robbery took place.

Imitation Coins Seized

Preparations to flood Hongkew with counterfeit 50-sen coins were nipped at 8 o'clock last night when a party of detectives from Police Headquarters, under Detective Sub-Inspector B. Maklaevsky, and in co-operation with the Japanese military police, raided House 41, Lane 1172 Ferry Road.

Four Chinese, one a woman, were arrested when the police discovered several hundred dollars' worth of counterfeit coins, mixed with genuine coins; a number of plaster-of-paris casts for manufacturing the coins, and a quantity of zinc, aluminium and iron. The Chinese were all natives of Fukien and were being questioned last night; further arrests are expected.

Neutrality Act in U.S. Attacked

"New York Times" On Vital American Part On Side of Liberty

New York, June 15.

"No Neutrality Act can prevent the American people from favouring their natural allies," the "New York Times" stated today in an editorial devoted to the foreign policy of the United States Government.

"The American people are not neutral in a situation creating a danger of war, no more than they will remain neutral in any situation which in the future might thereaten to break the balance of world forces," the paper added. "In any armed conflict between democracies and dictatorships, the good will and moral support of the United States would be given to the nations defending the manner of living which the American people consider the only one worth while."

The "New York Times" then pointed out the reasons why American opinion is nearly unanimous in supporting China against Japan, as it was opposed to the invasion of Austria by German troops, and is happy at the strong attitude taken by Czechoslovakia during the recent Central European crisis.

"Opinion tomorrow and after tomorrow will be as unanimous when someone or something affecting the American conception of liberty and cemocracy is at stake," the paper continued.

The journal then stressed the necessity of suppressing the Neutrality Act.

It admitted that as long as the law is in force one cannot rely upon the United States to take a more positive stand in wordd affairs "but aggressors will commit an error if in their calculations they neglect the American factor. Despite our abhorrence of making commitments in advance, we shall be entirely ready to take the side of democracy if a war breaks out."—Havas.

Swedish King's Birthday

Beloved Monarch's 80th Anniversary Today

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

The Swedish nation and Swedes the world over today will observe the 80th birthday of their beloved King, Gustaf V. During his long and eventful reign the principals of liberal monarchy, powerful cabinet and a democratic nation firmly have become established.

When Oscar Gustaf Adolf was born in the summer of 1858 as the eldest son of the then Duke and Duchess of Östergötland, the Bernadotte dynasty was still relatively young; the generation to which the present King of Sweden belongs was the first to be seriously connected by links of birth and relationship to the ruling royal lines of Europe.

Prince Gustaf, Duke of Värmland, in 1872 became Crown Prince of Sweden and Norway (the latter until 1905). Gustaf's 35-year long Crown Princeship fell in an epoch when monarchical Europe was yet strong and powerful. On the Continent the German Empire was dominant, and it was not surprising that Crown Prince Gustaf, like his father, sought his bride in its royal constellation. His marriage with Victoria of Baden was celebrated in Karlsruhe on September 20, 1881. Subsequently the Swedish Royal Family became united by marriage with foreign ruling dynasties.

An English Bride

In 1905 Gustaf Adolf, eldest son of the then Crown Prince Gustaf, married the English Princess Margareth, daughter of the Duke of Connaught, the brother of Edward VII. In 1908 the marriage was contracted between King Gustaf's second son, Prince Wilhelm, and Princess Maria of Russia. In 1897 Gustaf's brother, Prince Carl, had married Princess Ingeborg of Denmark. The importance such royal relationships possessed at that time may not be underestimated; they were of importance to King Gustaf's personal orientation and experience in the realm of foreign policy, and thereby also of value to his land.

Gustaf V's period of government as Crown Prince and King coincides with the epoch of modern democracy. Its starting point can be placed in several respect to the year of the Union separation, 1905, which for a great many reasons characterized the close of an older period and the beginning of a new. Palpable changes in the structure and administration of the Swedish community took place during the first years of the 20th century, though great alternations admittedly had been commenced and completed previously.

In a manner praiseworthy in its nature the State authorities had solved several of the most important public problems—the Customs, defence and basic taxation questions. The Parliamentary representation reform of 1865 had been a progressive step at its time, but soon it transpired that it was unable to answer the demands of a social system which was undergoing strong growth and change.

The case for social reform and universal franchise was pressed more and more sharply by the parties of the Left, the Liberals and Social Democrats. They were able to motivate their claims in this case by references to the effects of industrialism and to the whole social development of the community which had already given rise to new party groupings and induced desires for changes in the Constitution and the State administration.

The King's Problems

The relation between the Royal Power, the older social system in which the landed proprietor and State official constituted such a notable feature, and the democratic people's movements which were developing was the one great problem with which King Gustaf was faced; the other was foreign policy.

Developments have revealed that he possessed great qualities for solving both these tasks. King Gustaf's personal disposition reflected some of the best sides of the new spirit of the age, loyalty and conscientiousness, industriousness and freedom from ostentation and phrases. The King's liking for open-air life, his strong interest in sport, were typical characteristics of the time likewise his often-revealed sympathy for sickness and suffering.

Increased Respect for Sweden

Undoubtedly the defence decision of 1914 contributed to increase respect for Sweden's neutrality on the part of the combatant Powers. This neutrality also became the lodestar of King Gustaf and his constitutional advisers during the perilous war years, during which Sweden was more than once in danger of being implicated in the struggle.

That Scandinavia in its entirety was able to remain out of the conflict was due not in the least to the internal understanding, unity and peaceful aspirations of the Scandinavian State leaders. Credit for this is to be ascribed for the greater part to King Gustaf. In December 1914 the three Scandinavian kings met at his invitation in Malmö, where the plan was drawn up for co-operation as regards neutrality which, to the advantage of the Scandinavian countries, was followed at least during the first years of war.

This meeting, and its successors, signified not only support and assistance in the difficult situation created by the war, but it also signified the burial in oblivion of the old grudge between Sweden and Norway and created conditions for mutual understanding in the future.

Wise and magnanimous expression of his views was given by King Gustaf at another Royal meeting, this time at Christiania at the end of November 1917. "I should be sincere neither to myself not to history," said the King, "if I said that what happened in 1905 can yet have been forgotten. That which then occurred gave the idea of unity to the Scandinavian peninsula a deep wound, to the healing of which I for my part earnestly wish to contribute. It is for that reason, Your Majesty (Håkon VII of Norway), that I am present today to say to your Majesty and the former Union brother; 'let us create a new association, not of the old kind, but an association of the understanding and the heart, the vitality of which I hope will be of a more enduring nature than the former.'" And he concluded his speech by declaring; "Let us therefore take each other by the hand as a sign of our firm will to work in this spirit for the happiness and prosperity of our three peoples."

King Gustaf V of Sweden

Royal Collaboration

The personal authority of the old Monarch, his long experience, his independence of parties, have been a source of counsel and support for the changing Swedish Ministries. In a specially-marked way King Gustaf has become the link between old and new in Sweden. He maintains the ancient and distinguished traditions of the Swedish Kingdom with dignity and simplicity.

He represents the constancy and continuity in Swedish State affairs, but he has also, like the people's King he is, a true human understanding of the legitimacy and rightfulness in new developments, of social reforms and of the necessity and blessings of progress.

Present Morale of City Still Excellent, Though Prices Soar; Amusement Centres Active

Hankow, June 15.

DESPITE the Japanese threat to Hankow, the morale in the Wuhan cities is excellent, and it is difficult to realise that hostilities may soon approach this centre. About two to three hundred of Hankow's 1,200 foreigners, however, are expected to evacuate aboard a special "international train" to leave here on June 24.

One hundred and fifty names of various foreign residents have already been registered with the Foreign Residents' Association, including several Russian "taxi" dancers from local cabarets. The train is expected to proceed straight to Kowloon without touching at Canton.

Except for the preparations of those about to evacuate, life in the foreign community continues much as usual, although stagnation of business is tending to make office hours slack. Several smaller firms have begun the practice of closing in the afternoons, while occasionally a foreign tobacco company works on the basis of a four-day week.

The cost of living is soaring higher and higher. This is mainly reflected in the price of alcohol, cigarettes and imported luxuries generally. Foreign firms bringing tinned and other goods from Hongkong by rail and lorry are compelled to charge stiff prices in order to cover their expenses on account of transport and exchange difficulties.

A case of beer, which formerly sold at $16, today fetches over $40.

Race Club Crowded

The Hankow Race Club, situated only a few miles from the airfield, is crowded on most evenings, although only a handful of women grace the tennis courts. Cricket, polo and other sports are still being played.

Although the demand for war news predominates, several enthusiastic sportsmen are equally interested in bulletins covering the Test matches.

At night, there are several amusements to be found, in fact the three foreign cinemas are doing a roaring trade, being crowded to overflowing every night.

Hankow's famous "Cabaret Street" still glitters, but it is understood that the proprietors are feeling the pinch in view of the restriction on the hours during which music may be played. It is rumoured that one of the best-known cabarets here will probably be closing down soon.

Russian "hostesses," of whom there are many left, hope to remain in Hankow as long as possible, but most have made precautionary arrangements enabling them to evacuate at a moment's notice in case of real emergency.

Music is allowed to be played in the French Concession until 11 p.m. six nights a week, and until midnight on Sunday, enabling several dance halls and open air gardens to do a roaring trade.

They are thronged nightly by Chinese and foreigners alike, who are shedding their daily cares with such relaxations as are available.

The populace is uncertain what is in store for them during the next few months, but at present they are cheerily making the best of a difficult situation.—Reuter.

Anti-Jewish Campaign In Reich Growing

Police Raids, Boycotts, Discrimination Revealed

Berlin, June 15.

Attacks against Jews throughout the country are gaining in intensity.

Numerous raids are being carried out daily by the police in various establishments visited by Jews.

Inscriptions in public squares and in front of Jewish shops instruct the Aryan populations not to buy from these stores.

All Jews must register their properties with the Government before July 1, in accordance with a decree released by Field-Marshal Hermann Goering, Chief of the Four-Year-Plan. The measure includes the registration of monetary possessions, properties, and jewellery.

Semi-official commentators declared that the object of the measure was to find out the exact value of Jewish belongings in Germany, so as to place them at the disposal of the National Economic service when found necessary. In this event, Jewish residents will receive Treasury Bonds in exchange for their properties.

The manufacturing industry in Berlin, formerly in Jewish hands, is now entirely operated by Nazi concerns.

In an article in the magazine of the Law Academy, Dr. Stuckart, Secretary of State for Home Affairs, declared that in future Jews born from German parents will not be German citizens and will not have any nationality; furthemore Jews will no longer become Germans by marriage.—Havas.

Cholera "Mildly Epidemic" Here

Inoculations Mounting; About 260,000 Given in The Settlement

Although a further slight increase has been noted, cholera is still in the fairly mild epidemic stage in Shanghai, health officials stated yesterday. In the whole area comprising the International Settlement, French Concession and Chapei, 248 cases have been notified so far this season, but only about 130 of these have been verified as genuine cases. The distribution is fairly wide, including one case in Yangtszepoo. Thickly populated areas show victims of the disease in comparatively large numbers, as might be expected.

There has only been one foreign case, that of a Russian woman in the French Concession.

Deaths from cholera have been twenty Chinese in the Settlement; twelve in the French Concession, and nine in outside area.

Throughout Shanghai, inoculations are still being administered in large numbers daily. In the Settlement, the Health Department has given about 200,000 "shots" since the campaign started, while physicians not connected with the Department have administered some 60,000.

The other seasonal diseases are not present in any large degree.

The authorities have dissolved all trade unions of Austrian employees and have used the funds of these various groups for the benefit of the German Labour Front.

Yankees Threaten Indians

Only Half a Game Margin Held by Leaders of American League; Giants Crush Pirates

New York, June 14.

WHILE the New York Giants, leaders of the National League, continued in their winning stride today, the Cleveland Indians, American League pace-setters, suffered another setback, allowing the New York Yankees to creep up on them. Only half-a-game separates the Indians and the world champion Yankees and there is every indication that the Yankees will be sitting on top of the heap before the week is out.

With Mel Ott swinging a lusty bat and connecting for a four-bagger and a double to chase in two men, the Giants made short work of the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-3.

The Giants hung up three markers in the eighth frame to settle the issue there and then.

Cubs Swat Bees

Scoring two runs in the seventh, the Chicago Cubs clinched their game against the Boston Bees, 5-2. Bill Herman led the batting parade for the Bruins, lasting out a timely double to drive in two men.

Stu Martin helped the St. Louis Cardinals nose out the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-3, when he socked the ball for a bingle and pushed a man across in the eighth. Martin also smacked out another single and a double earlier in the fray.

By cutting loose in the fifth inning, the Washington Senators tied the Cleveland Indians and then notched up a lone marker in the seventh stanza to eke out a win from the league leaders, 7-6. The Nats piled up four runs in their batting spree in the fifth.

Earl Averill, leader of the batting averages hung up a homer as did his teammate Bruce Campbell, while Leo Goslin and Cecil Travis scored a circuit clout each for the opposition.

Yankees Down White Sox

Unleashing a powerful attack in the sixth canto, the New York Yankees forced Thornton Lee to flee to the showers after they had touched him for seven hits which were converted into seven markers and victory against the Chinese White Sox, 7-4.

Myril Hoag smacked out a double and a single to drive in three men.

Coming through in the eighth with three runs to force Vernon Kennedy to retire from the Mound, the Philadelphia Athletics walloped the Detroit Tigers, 8-2. Hank Greenberg and Chapman homered.

Spurting successfully in the seventh and eighth for a total of five runs, the Boston Red Sox triumphed over the St. Louis Browns, 5-3. The Red Sox scored three in the lucky seventh stanza. Ben Chapman banged out two doubles.

Cricket Fixtures This Week-end

S.C.C. Wanderers Will Meet Nomads Saturday; League Matches and Teams

There will be a return to League fixtures this week-end when on Saturday the S.C.C. Wanderers are at home to the Nomads on the Club ground, and the Staff and Headquarters side engage thes Police XI on their matting wicket. At the same time the Recreation Club Tyros will meet the Parsee Cricket Club on the Recs pitch. Sunday will again see a struggle between the two senior Clubs when the S.C.C. Stragglers play the Colts on the Cricket Club ground.

Provided that no more rain falls the wickets should be perfect for high scores, as bowlers can get very little help from a dead pitch.

Of the three matches to be played on Saturday the most interesting seems that scheduled for the Cricket Club ground where the Wanderers, skipped by L. F. Stokes, will meet last year's champions, the Nomads. Both sides have so far defeated one Army team each, the Wanderers having rallied at the last moment to dismiss the Seaforths for 45 runs after being returned for a mere 71.

Their success was entirely due to a superior attack, where Stokes manipulated a variety of pace in Rawsthorne, Jenkins, Lingard and Graham. However, until Jenkins learns how to control his run up to the wicket he cannot hope to control his length, and his undoubted speed and swerve will be entirely wasted. As he forms the spearhead with Rawsthorne this deficiency will have to be adjusted before Saturday, as the Nomads possess batsmen who show no mercy to the loose ball.

Wanderers Formidable

The Wanderers are also a formidable batting side, with every man a potential run-getter, and this will prove an even greater obstacle to Leach's men, whose weakness in the bowling department is openly acknowledged. On the other hand the Nomads are a good fielding side, as in their last appearance a combination of clean gathering and fast returns kept their opponents from running up a higher total. At the crease Pote-Hunt is in fine fettle; but as yet most of the side has failed to produce form.

In their match against the Colts earlier in the month the Recreation Club Tyros put up a disappointing display, only one of the side breaking into double figures. It must be admitted that the opposition comprised most of the Club's best players but there seemed little reason for the game to turn into a complete rout. However, the Tyros will have the chance to redeem themselves when they meet the Parsees. The newly-formed side has so far played two matches, both of which they have lost rather badly. With a backbone of four of the Recreation Club's First XI this team should have played itself in before now, but they need not be discouraged.

The Police again field a strong side, and should be able to beat the Staff & Headquarters team on a matting wicket. The latter side defeated the Parsees a fortnight ago on the same pitch, and seemed to be quite at home on the matting. With Commander Boucher in a scoring vein the Police attack will have its hands full in trying to dislodge him and French, whose 47 against the Parsee bowling was a fine display of masterly timing and quick foot-work. Hamlen is another bat to contend with. So far this season these three have not played on turf, and it will be interesting to see how they fare later against the other clubs' bowlers.

Little Talent Seen

Although the Police had a friendly game last Saturday little talent was discovered outside the ranks of their active cricketers, so that much still depends on the performance of such veterans as S. V. Gash and B. B. Boddy. Both are on form, and together with H. A. Sevenoaks should prove as dangerous as ever against the Army side.

Sunday's fixture between the S.C.C. Stragglers and the Recreation Club Colts on the Cricket Club ground will be particularly interesting, inasmuch as A. V. T. Dean, R. Booth and A. C. Sinclair again face the bowling of Pat Madar and F. F. Kellner.

In the Wood Trophy match last Saturday these two spin merchants played havoc with the Club's defence, the chief reason for their success lying in the fact that the opposition continually made the mistake of playing too soon without getting up to and over the pitch of the ball. In their first game this season, against the Police, the Stragglers could not settle down on the artificial wicket, and at one time five of their batsmen were out for 17 runs.

In that match Boddy and Sevenoaks bowled through the innings without relief, and finally shared honours with five apiece. But for a magnificent display of stubborn defence at a critical stage by skipper Sinclair the side would have been out for less than 67. As it was they had dismissed the Police for 97, and before they went in there seemed a good chance of pulling off the decision with a fair amount of ease. But Boddy produced an unusual turn of speed from the top end, and the rest was done by Sevenoaks with a contrast of pace.

Good Match

However, with Booth's stand last Saturday and the confident way in which Sinclair put several away in the same match it is more than likely that the Stragglers will end the game with a different decision. The Colts will start with well-deserved confidence, and the match should prove to be a great tussle.

More Barracking By Crowd at Test, Sarcastic Applause

Bradman Makes His Slowest Century in a Test; Verity the Most Successful Bowler

Nottingham, June 15.

MORE demonstrations and counter-demonstrations were witnessed in the first Test match at Trent Bridge yesterday as the Australians continued playing negative cricket.

After Bradman and Brown had managed to keep their wickets intact throughout the whole morning, it was a mere formality in playing out time. The scores of the drawn match were:

England —658 for eight declared
Australia— 1st innings—411
Australia—2nd innings—427 for six.

At one period in the afternoon, when Verity was proving troublesome with his length and spin, scoring was practically stationary. The crowd barracked, upon which Bradman refused to continue. Subsequently, the spectators ironically cheered each stroke.

At the close Bradman was undefeated with 144, and Ward with seven, the score being 427 for six. The Australian captain took 365 minutes to compile his total. It was his slowest century in a Test match.

Bradman's partnership with Barnett produced 68 runs in 60 minutes.

Verity took three successive wickets today in a spell of 55 minutes. His victims were Brown, McCabe and Hassett.

Press Comment at Home

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

London, June 15.

The English and Australian press said today that the outcome of the first Test match at Trent Bridge yesterday should hasten unlimited Tests, although probably five-day matches should come first.

It was generally deplored that the Australians did not hit out when the match was safe in order to relieve the monotony for the crowd.

One critic said that it must have been years since Don Bradman batted all day for five fours and walked off without cheers.

There was little comment in Australia on the barracking, although it was felt that England could hardly complain now about barracking on Australian grounds.

Hobbs said that Wright was a real find, although the English bowling was, in general, not "vicious" enough. —Reuter.

Gold Vase Winner Bought Night Before Race at Ascot

Hon. Peter Beatty Also Purchased Bois Roussel Shortly Before the Derby

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

London, June 14.

FOLLOWING his purchase of the Derby winner Bois Roussel, the luck of the Hon. Peter Beatty, brother and heir of Earl Beatty, continued at Ascot today.

Last night he bought Foxglove from Prince Aly Khan at a price undisclosed, but rumoured to be £4,000, and today, starting as a 4-1 favourite and ridden by Gordon Richards, Foxglove readily won the Gold Vase, worth over £2,000, from 20 opponents.

Backers were generally successful at the start, with two other favourites in the first four races winning.

One of these was the undefeated two-year-old colt Panorama, owned by the American, Mrs. Corrigan, which easily won the Coventry Two-year-old Stakes, starting at 2-9, while the other was Mr. J. Westoll's Frawn, starting at 5-1.

Frawn defeated 24 opponents comfortably to win the Ascot Stakes.

Lord Derby's Success

Lord Derby also had a success, winning the Queen Anne Stakes with St. Magnus, which started at 7-1.

Mr. James v. Rank's Scottish Union showed that his Derby performance was no fluke when he won the St. Jemes' Palace Stakes by three lengths. He started at 4-7.

Sir Abe Bailey's Golden Sovereign, starting at 11-2, was second.

The first French challenger to be successful was Princess Faucigny Lucinge's Louragan which, starting at 8-1 won the Prince of Wales' Stakes in a short-head and head finish.

Frank Buetters provided the first and second in the Queen Mary Stakes, which was won by Mr. Lant's Belle Travers from the Aga Khan's Yakimour and Sir Abe Bailey's Streakway. The winner started at 3-1, the Yakimour at 10-1 and Streakaway at 8-1.—Reuter.

London, June 14.

A double century by P. A. Gibb, the Cambridge wicket-keeper, who scored 204 against the Free Foresters, was the feature of the first-class matches concluded today.

Lancashire, with the aid of centuries by Washbrook (124), Hopwood (127) and Oldfield (112), beat Glamorgan by nine wickets;

Flashing the same brand of golf that last week earned him the National Open Championship, Ralph Guldahl late today took the lead in the Western Open play by shooting a par 71 for the first 18 holes of the difficult Westwood Country Club course.

Four players, Sammy Head of Chicago, Tony Penna of Dayton, Ohio, Paul Runyan of White Plains, N.Y., and Roy Mangrum, also of Dayton, were tied for second place with scores of 72.—United Press.

Schools Closing for Summer

Few Prize-Giving Ceremonies to Make End of Term ; No More Classes Until September

THE last five days of this month will see school desks all over Shanghai being banged for the last time for two months as the various schools and colleges of Shanghai close down for the summer. From the end of June to the beginning of September, schools will be closed, their pupils scattered far over China and Japan as they spend the hot, happy months at seaside, mountain and other holiday resort. Some of the schools are holding their prize-givings at the end of this term, but most of the others will close down quietly and leave the distribution of the rewards for hard work to later in the year.

The Lester School (Senior Section) and the Henry Lester Institute of Technical Education, which have both been closed owing to the hostilities, will be returning to the fine premises at 505 East Seward Road in September, the "North-China Daily News" was informed yesterday. The Junior School, which is housed at 99A Edinburgh Road, will be closing on July 2, and will be re-opening in September.

The Cathedral Sschool for Boys, 11-13 Columbia Road, will be closing for the summer on June 30, to re-open on September 8. No prize-giving or other ceremonies will mark the end of term, apart, of course, from any impromptu cheering by the boys—possibly echœd sotto voce by long-suffering form masters.

The Cathedral School for Girls, 425 Avenue Haig, will be closing two days earlier, on June 28, when marks will be read out and certificates awarded; entertainment will be given the school the day before by the junior pupils. The school opens again after the holidays on September 12.

Universities Close

On Saturday, June 25, seven universities in Shanghai will be meeting in the Grand Theatre for joint commencement exercises. These universities are the University of Shanghai, the University of Nanking, the University of Soochow, the Hangchow Christian College, Ginling College (of Nanking), the Women's Medical College (of Shanghai), and St. John's University, 190 Jessfield Road. These universities will close for the summer on June 25, after the morning commencement exercises, but summer classes will be maintained at St. John's for four weeks.

The various Municipal schools are all closing at the end of the month, to re-open during the first week in September. The Public & Thomas Hanbury School for Boys closes on June 30, and will re-open early in September, the exact date not yet being known; there will be no prize-giving ceremony or anything of that nature to mark the end of term.

The Western District Public School also closes on June 30, but the end of term will be signalized in the minds of most of the pupils by the prize-giving ceremony which will be held the day before; the school will remain closed until September 5, when the Christmas term will start.

The Public School for Girls, 404 Yu Yuen Road and next door to the Western District Public School, will be following the same procedure as that school, closing on June 30, with a prize-giving ceremony at 9.30 a.m. on June 29. The exact date of re-opening is not yet known, but will be early in September. The Public & Thomas Hanbury School for Girls, usually of 10 Hannen Road but now in temporary quarters in the Western District, will be closing on June 30, but it is understood that an informal prize-giving will be held in the afternoon of June 28.

Shanghai American School

The Shanghai American School, 10 Avenue Petain, will be holding its commencement exercises at 5 o'clock this afternoon; it is hoped to hold these in the quadrangle, as usual, but should the weather prove unkind, the exercises will be held in the Community Church, on the other side of the road. The school will remain closed until September 6, but during the summer months, the Foreign Y.M.C.A. will be using the school's athletic facilities for about 750 boys.

The band of the Fourth U.S. Marines will play both before and after the commencement exercises today. The principal speaker will be Mr. C. W. Petitt, of the Board of Management, while the Valedictorian Speech will be made by Miss Elizabeth Louis. Those on the platform with Mr. Petitt will be Mr. R. Burns, the new principal, Mr. Farrior, Mrs. N. F. Allman, on behalf of the American Association of University Women; Mr. E. Harris, who will present the two British Sealed Prizes to the lucky winners who, until the announcement is made, will know nothing about it; Mr. C. S. Franklin, Mr. F. P. Lockhart, M. Pierre Auge, Judge Milton J. Helmick, Col. Chas F. B. Price, Mr. R. T. McDonnell, Mr. R. E. O'Bolger, Mrs. Cornish (representing the American Women's Club), and Mr. Ernest M. Hayes.

The French Schools

The College Municipal Francaise will hold its prize-giving on Friday, June 24, in the French Municipal Hall, prizes being distributed to the junior classes at 10 a.m. and to the senior classes at 5.30 p.m. All the French Schools will close after their prize-givings, and will remain closed until early in September. The dates of the prize-givings in the other French municipal schools are as follows:—

Franco-Chinese Municipal School, in the school hall at 5 p.m. on June 25; Franco-Annamite School, on June 20 at 2.30 p.m. in the French Police Club; the Remi School, on June 27, in the school hall, at 5.30 p.m.; the "Ecole Primaire Lagrenée," at 10 a.m. on June 30, in the hall of the Franco-Chinese Municipal School; and the "Ecole Primaire Chapsal," at 5 p.m. on June 30, also in the Franco-Chinese Municipal School hall.

North West Attack Predicted

Hankow Paper Says Japan Aims to Subjugate Distant Provinces of China

Hankow, June 15.

In a leading article today under the heading of "Strengthen the North-west Defences," the influential "Ta Kung Pao" urges the Chinese Government and public not only to pay attention to the military situation in the Yangtze Valley and the Lunghai Railway, but also to prepare for a Japanese invasion of the north-west.

Although the situation is comparatively quiet at present in Suiyuan and Shensi, the newspaper says, "Japan has long planned an invasion of the north-west ,not only as part of her China programme but an important move in her future war with Soviet Russia."

The "Ta Kung Pao" proposes the stationing of a strong independent army in the north-west and the training of a new army in the area in question.

The newspaper points out that an unsatisfactory situation exists in the "special district" in Shensi and Kansu provinces (the Chinese Soviet district), where many hsiens are said to have two magistrates; one appointed by the Central Government and the other by the Soviet administration.

Chinese Communists are urged, in accordance with their policy to support the Central Government in the war of resistance, to endeavour to remove all undesirable features in the present "special district."

In conclusion the "Ta Kung Pao" urges close co-operation between Chinese and Mohammedans in the north-west.—Reuter.

Pork Prices Drop As Pigs Come in

Dealers Make Arrangement To End Shortage

Fanciers of pork in Shanghai beamed yesterday as a drop in the price of the meat was forecast here with the impending arrival of 200,000 pigs from north Kiangsu. This report also brought relief to many a Chinese housewife who has traditionally relied upon pork as the main meat diet in the family menu.

With local demand far outstripping supply, local dealers recently sent agents to Hsing Sheng Kong, in north Kiangsu, to make purchases, Chinese reports said. Two hundred thousand squealing porkers, these reports added, are awaiting sale in Jukao, Taishing, and other districts in north Kiangsu.

Arrangements for the dispatch of vessels to shipping points along the northern shores of the Yangtze have also been completed, these reports added.

In the meantime, the Chinese Vegetable Merchants Association moved to facilitate the transportation to Shanghai of country produce by establishing a special office in Kwei Chuen Lee Alleyway, Burkill Road, to hire boats on behalf of the association's members.

Local vegetable dealers, Chinese reports said, blame the difficulty of securing transportation facilities for the country produce for the prevailing high prices.

American Wage-Hour Bill Passed

President to Sign New Compromise Measure

Washington, June 14.

President Roosevelt today emerged triumphant in his two-year fight for wage-hour legislation, the key of his social reform programme, when the Senate completed all action on the Wage-Hour Bill and sent it to the White House for signing.

The version of the bill sent to the President, however, has been emasculated by the amendments of the Southerners, strong opponents of the measure. The Bill will become effective 120 days after it will be signed.

It calls for a 25 cts.-per-hour wage and a 44-hour week during the first year, reaching 30 cts.-per-hour and a 40-hour week within three years, after which industrial boards will fix the 40-40 scale of 40 cts.-per-hour in a 40-hour week.

The industrial boards, similar to the N.R.A., will adjust the 40-40 scale according to sectional economic conditions, excepting such industries proving that the wage scales would be a hardship.

The Senate accepted the report on the bill from the Conference Committee of the two Houses by a voice vote.—United Press.

As the result of his hand being caught in machinery at the Ewo Cotton mill in Yangtzepoo Road, a Chinese workman was taken to St. Luke's Hospital at 5.30 yesterday morning, suffering from crushed fingers.

American U. Club Annual Meeting

Favourable Reports for Past Year Presented

The reports of the president, Mr. A. C. Cornish; the treasurer, Mr. Bruce Smith; and secretary, Mr. Alfred Lee, having been read, members of the American University Club, at the annual meeting held yesterday at tiffin in the American Club, elected officers for the 1938/39 season:—Mr. Arthur Bassett, president; Mr. William Z. L. Sung, vice-president; Mr. Bruce Smith, treasurer, and Mr. H. C. Chen, secretary.

Opening the meeting, Mr. Cornish pointed out that the reports of the officers indicated a good season and an excellent membership, but owing to the hostilities the programme committee had secured only two speakers throughout the year, Dr. W. W. Yen and Father Jacquinot. The Club had been as active as the circumstances had permitted. Although the annual spring prom had been omitted, he felt that their club, unlike exchange, was not declining rapidly.

"Earns His Tiffin"

Mr. Frank P. Lockhart, American Consul-General and a guest of honour, said that he had tried to avoid making a speech, but that the president insisted that inasmuch as his tiffin had been paid for, he would have to earn it. The speaker felt, however, that with exchange the way it was, they would be lucky if they got 40 cents (gold) worth. Mr. Lockhart then read a psychologist's opinion, that having had a heavy meal no person could be at his best —he sympathized with what his audience would hear in the following two or three minutes. In conclusion, after reviewing the aims of university clubs, he felt that the Shanghai body would emerge from this period stronger and a more vital force in their chosen field.

"After what my predecessor has said, I fear that there only remains about 4 cents worth," began Col. Charles F. B. Price, O. C. the 4th Marines. He felt that such a society as the American University Club was destined to great usefulness, inasmuch as it was composed of men, who, in a sympathetic and friendly spirit, have made a study of broader problems than those of the immediate neighbourhood. ".....It will be difficult for future governments to lead their peoples in ways which they do not wish to travel," he said and hoped for this reason an extension of the spirit of the American University Club.

Treasurer's and Secretary's Reports

The treasurer pointed out that the Club had completed the trust fund of $2,000 for the J. B. Lee Scholarship Fund, that the current account was ample, that they had sufficient gold reserves, and that Mr. Milton Bates was appointed a trustee.

The membership of the club, observed the secretary, owing to the departure of many, had dropped from 462 to 419, of whom 167 were life members, but that in autumn with the return of graduates from American schools the number would reach former proportions.

Judge Milton Helmick, past president, in the absence of the president —elect, closed the meeting with a few brief remarks.

"Health Patrols" For Hongkew

Inoculations to Be Given On the Spot ; Cholera Precautions Announced

Discarding their rifles and bayonets for hypodermic syringes and anti-cholera serum, Japanese naval "health patrols" will operate in Hongkew beginning on June 25, a Japanese naval spokesman announced yesterday. The patrols will be armed, but solely for "moral suasion," the spokesman indicated.

The duty of these patrols will be to stop passers by in Hongkew and Yangtszepoo and demand the presentation of anti-cholera inoculation certificates. Those not in possession of such papers will be summarily inoculated by a naval surgeon accompanying the patrol.

Third party nationals, the spokesman said, will be handed a printed card requesting them to show their respective inoculation passes. Should they be unable to produce one, they will be handed another card "inviting" them to be inoculated "for the good of the entire community." Should they refuse, they will be allowed to go, the spokesman said.

"No coercion will be used against Third Party nationals, but Japanese or Chinese found without a certificate will be inoculated on the spot" the spokesman declared.

This procedure, the spokesman declared, would be used instead of an attempt to bar access to Hongkew and Yangtszepoo to all persons without inoculation certificates, which would only cause confusion and delay at the Soochow Creek bridges.

The printed invitations, the spokesman added, were being prepared to "prevent any misunderstanding because of language difficulties."

Tuesday's Closing Quotations

London, June 14.

Interest was centred on the new Government Loan whose subscription lists will be open throughout tomorrow. Its terms are considered sufficiently attractive to secure success, hence existing gilt-edged securities eased on realisations for re-investment purposes, while elsewhere quiet and occasionally lower conditions were seen.—Reuter.

Paris Bourse

Paris, June 14.

Owing to unfavourable reports from Wall Street, the market on the Paris Bourse today opened heavy in all counters. During the session, liquidation and arbitrage sales in an empty market resulted in further more or less severe drops. Towards the close the market reacted led by National Bonds, recovering part of their earlier losses.—Havas.

New York Stocks

Tuesday's Closing Quotations

New York, June 14.

Stock prices on Wall Street today finished with gains of about mostly one point. After easing, the market rallied with rails, which responded to hopes of the passage of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation's rail loans plan. Steels were narrow, with the cloudy outlook emphasized by the cut in galvanised sheet prices. Coppers were supported. Meanwhile, despite the frantic rush of Congress to adjourn, sentiment shows but little signs of improvement. The turnover today amounted to 350,000 shares.

Dow-Jones Summary

By courtesy of Swan, Culbertson & Fritz

Most attention on the Stock Exchange today was centered on better rail developments, with prospects that some assisting legislation will come into force prior to the adjournment of Congress. Other favourable factors included: some belief that the present dullness indicates a near term end of the bear market the hope that the decline in building material prices will aid construction; and, the strength of wheat futures. Unfavourable factors were: dividend cuts and omissions bankers acceptance on May 31 being the lowest recorded since 1916; and, the further weakness of steel scrap.

Int. Steel Cartel

Paris, June 15.

An agreement was reached for the prolongation of the International Steel Cartel until the end of 1940, at yesterday's meeting of the Cartel. Although no communique was issue after the meeting had been concluded, it is understood that no changes have been made in prices or quotas, except in the case of one or two of the smaller articles.—Reuter.

Tuesday's Closing Quotations

New York, June 14.

Trading in the cotton market was early inactive and prices declined moderately on Liverpool cables and foreign selling, but contracts proved to be scarce and the market rallied on trade and local buying. Finally, the market advanced further in sympathy with wheat and sterling, together with inflationary talk, and closed very steady, with quotations ranging from 12 to 14 points up.

Prices in the rubber market reflected steady cables, favourable interpretation of May domestic statistics, shorts covering and the continued Akron accumulation of distants. At the last call-over, gains of 14 to 19 points were recorded.

After being easier in sympathy with Liverpool advices, wheat prices in Chicago rallied on increasing fears of black rust spreading northwards, general buying, shorts covering and damage complaints and reduced yields in the south-west. At the final bell, gains of 2⅜ to 2½ cents were registered.

The sugar market advanced on trade and operator buying, covering on steadier London cables and expectations of only a few July notices on Friday. At the close, quotations ranged from unchanged to 1 point up.

Scattered short covering in the silk market today found sellers hesitant owing to the steadiness of Japanese advices and the improvement in other markets. Closing quotations were from 1½ to 2 cents up.

Bar Gold in Demand

London, June 14.

Bar gold today was in the greatest demand in more than a year here. Despite denials that Britain, France and the United States were considering a realignment of the tripartite currency agreement, Bombay frantically bought, augmenting continental hoarders.—United Press.

Far East Sugar Market Dropped Heavily

Quota Cuts Inadequate, Commons Informed

London, June 15.

Referring to the International Sugar Agreement of 1937 in the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. Malcolm MacDonald, Secretary for the Colonies, stated that the calculation on which the agreement was based "anticipated a normal demand for sugar in the Far East of 560,000 tons a year."

As a result of the Sino-Japanese hostilities, Mr. MacDonald continued, it was doubtful whether the Far East was absorbing 300,000 thousand tons a year.

The cuts in the quotas, made as a result of a recent meeting of the International Sugar Council, were proving inadequate to meet the situation, Mr. MacDonald declared. Delegates were consulting their respective governments, and the Council was to meet again early in July.

Mr. MacDonald hoped the Council, by further voluntary reductions in supplies, would re-establish the equilibrium between supply and demand, so that prices for producers generally could rise to a reasonable and proper level.—Reuter.

U.S.-Iranian Oil Company

Teheran, June 15.

M. Bader, Iranian Finance Minister, today informed Parliament that the Americo-Iranian Oil Company had renounced the oil monopoly granted to them in 1936.—Reuter.

War Veterans from S. Africa in Berlin

Duke of Saxe-Coburg on Good-Will for Peace

Berlin, June 15.

The delegates of the British Empire Service League of South Africa, at present in Berlin, were the guests at a reception given by the president of the German war veterans associations, the Duke of Saxe-Coburg, at the Kaiserhof Hotel here last night.

In his address of welcome, the Duke expressed his gratification that the South African war veterans had named their first visit to Germany a "good-will visit to Germany."

This good-will, he continued, existed to the same degree on the side of the German war veterans. The World War had left a great legacy to its veterans, namely to safeguard the world peace, i.e. a true peace firmly based on mutual regard among nations. Acquaintance between war veterans must result in the strengthening of the front of all true soldiers who since they know war, want peace today, and see a comrade in the opponent of the past.

Speaking on behalf of the South African guests, Brigadier-General Turner expressed thanks for the friendly reception accorded to the South African war veterans in Germany.

The Chargé d'Affaires of the Union of South Africa in Berlin, Dr. H. M. Stoker, conveyed the greetings of the South African Minister who is at present out of town.—Trans-Ocean.

"Deficiency of information in Japanese English-language newspapers is completed very successfully by an English newspaper in Kobe The Japan Chronicle . . on its pages can often be found criticisms of the political and economic actions of the Japanese Government and various other information which gives the opportunity to observe and to analyse the Japanese economic situation. In addition to the usual material obtainable from all the Japanese English-language newspapers. The Japan Chronicle gives a very detailed and comprehensive review of the foreign trade of Japan. It regularly prints statistics pertaining to Japanese exports and the state of the home market."—Extracts from U.S.S.R. Chamber of Commerce Journal.
